Bandits Steal Charity Safe at U. C. Branch!

BIND GUARD, TAKE $2288 FIRE FUND

Money Raised by Students in Los Angeles to Aid Stricken Berkeley

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—After attacking and binding G. W. Robinson, night watchman, and robbing him of his keys, a gang of six bandits entered the library of the University of California, Southern Branch, in Vermont avenue, and carried away a safe containing $2288 in cash, but failed in an attempt to steal another larger safe containing $3600.

The money which was stolen had been raised by the southern branch as a relief fund for students at the main university at Berkeley, who were left practically destitute by the fire last Monday.

The bandit gang, believed to have arrived here recently from the east, is thought to have been directed by a nationally notorious crook. After binding the watchman the bandits tugged at the larger safe for more than an hour, and finally abandoned it after taking it about half way to a waiting automobile truck.

Mr. Boynton writes, "The fire took our place about 2:30 o'clock yesterday. Florence did not have

JAPS SILENT ON ARMY DISMISSAL

Reasons for Suspension of Officers Concealed by War Office

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—The Japanese war office today refused to divulge the cause of the dismissal of several military officers charged with the enforcement of martial law in Japan's earthquake devastated districts.

The war office said their dismissal was not connected with their actions toward foreigners, and it is presumed irregularity of action toward civilian Japanese caused the dismissal General Fukuda relieved General Yamanashi, in charge of the martial law area, today, but it was said this change was not connected with the pending courts-martial of the dismissed junior officers.

Ambassador Wood and Admiral Anderson called on the premier and other officials prior to the departure of Admiral Anderson from Yokohama today with the American fleet.

Tells Graphic Story of Yokohama Quake

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—A thrilling picture of the destruction of Yokohama, the great Japanese forts at Yokosuka and the disappearance of Oshima island, was told here today by Captain Tatsuzo Itoh of the Japanese freighter Horaisan Maru, which was leaving the harbor when the earthquake shook Japan.

"The ship trembled," he said. "The water became turbulent, and, looking through my glasses, from the bridge, I could see the buildings of Yokohama tumbling. Turning, I saw one of the great Yokosuka forts collapse, and then before my eyes the island of Oshima sank beneath the waters There was nothing that we could do, so we continued our course to the United States."

Stratford-on-Avon Revives Shakespeare Writes W. B. Kirk

IN concluding their visit in the "Land of Erin" the Kirks journeyed to England and in the letter herewith printed Mr. Kirk tells of a visit in York and of going to Stratford-on-Avon to the home of Shakespeare. His account follows:

W. B. KIRK

"York, England, August 18.—Since writing the last letter I have found that I was a good prophet for once. They made quick work of De Valera, didn't they? I'm sure our papers had a full account of it.

"We came from Dublin to Holyhead on one of the fast mail boats which make the seventy miles in two and a half hours. That's going some! The Channel was as smooth as glass, something very unusual, so I was spared.

"Holyhead is a nice old seaside resort, on an island in the extreme northwest corner of Wales. We spent the balance of the night there and next morning soon discovered that we were in the land of the Williams', Hughes', Evans', Jones', and Llewellyns' crowd. I think these five names can be applied to about half of all the Welsh, another people which takes a large place in our citizenry. The Welsh language, like the Irish, which they are trying to retain, is absolutely unpronounceable by any rule of English.

"The journey from Holyhead to Chester, England, through North Wales, was delightful. Picturesquely beautiful farm country with good crops and cattle, pine trees and well-built towns made up the picture. Somehow it has a better appearance than any section of Britain which we have yet seen.

See Roman Relics

"We stopped at the quaint old city of Chester, where so many of the relics of old Roman days exist. Two or three miles of the old Roman wall, with towers at intervals, still partially surround the city. Very old houses, an old castle, the fine cathedral dating from the Danish period, one of the largest and finest we have seen, were visited. A drive down to the little old town of Mold, in Wales, was also made. On the return we stopped to see Havarden (pronounced 'Havrden') castle. No wonder Gladstone was so attached to it!

"It is quite a long walk from the road, but, oh, the beautiful trees on the way! We have never seen such beauties. The ruins of the old castle, ivy-grown, can be ascended and from the top of the tower six counties can be seen. The modern house, a quarter of a mile away, is the one which you have seen in pictures. It is surrounded by flowers and very attractive.

On Way to Liverpool

"Friday morning we started for Yorkshire via Birkenhead and Liverpool, which is only fifteen miles from Chester. Our first view of the Mersey was not disappointing, the splendid movable docks, quick ferriage, wide channel, big liners at dock, all tending to impress one with the magnitude and importance of this greatest port of the world.

"When I was a small boy in the middle west I remember hearing the name of Liverpool always

Auto Camp Grounds to Be Legislated Out

The City Council last night indicated that it will soon pass a drastic ordinance regulating auto camp grounds. The subject was brought up for discussion by the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce which was represented by J. I. Wernette, R. E. Johnston and L. H. Wilson. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow was instructed to prepare a very stringent ordinance immediately.

Councilman W. A. Horn introduced a motion that the two existing camp grounds should be given five days in which to move. This was carried but was rescinded later in the meeting on the grounds that it might be better to defer action until the passage of the proposed ordinance.

Action on the ordinance recently drafted to cover the subject was not taken because it is not regarded as drastic enough. The Council seemed to be in some doubt as to the exact provisions and regulations of the desired ordinance.

TWO MOTORISTS WONDER HOW THEY ESCAPED INSTANT DEATH WHEN CARS CUT QUEER CAPERS

TWO Glendale motorists today are wondering "How Did it Happen?" They were victims of inexplicable accidents, both miraculously escaping while their Ford cars were smashed in two wrecks occurring last night.

N. B. Seabrook, a recent resident of Glendale, at midnight crashed into a Pacific Electric power pole in Brand boulevard, just south of Broadway. He found himself in the middle of the street, his machine spread in parts over the trolley tracks.

"I was asleep," he said, after his sudden awakening.

Lee D. Childers, proprietor of the Quality Grocery, 543 North Brand boulevard, at 7 o'clock last night, turned sharply on North Orange street to avoid striking another machine. His coupe overturned in a helpless heap. Mr. Childers climbed out from under the wreckage.

"Hurt? Not much," he said, "but why not? I ought to be dead from the looks of things."

New Fire in North Ruins Snowsheds, Halts Rail Traffic

Passengers on Three Trains Fight Blaze; Forest Flames Controlled

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Fire in the snow sheds along the Southern Pacific railroad in the high Sierras early today completely halted traffic on the main line east of that railroad.

Three trains fought the flames, which started at the telegraph station of Spruce, but 1,000 feet of sheds, the Spruce station and two cars of lumber were burned before the blaze was controlled. Through traffic is held up until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The fire was discovered shortly before 1 a. m. by the telegraph operator at Spruce, which is five miles west of Summit.

Forest fires which for the past week have swept twenty northern California counties causing an aggregate loss of from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000, in addition to the huge toll taken at Berkeley, were dying down today, and all apparently under control.

In Sonora county a fire near the Mandocino county line was still being vigorously fought today.

Indendiaries Are Sought by State Foresters After Probe of Holocaust

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Declaring that "the first fruits of our investigation are seen in the arrest of Harry Harvey at Oroville," W. B. Rider, deputy state forester, announced today the state board of forestry has launched a rigid investigation into the origin of disastrous fires of the past ten days and that a round-up of persons believed guilty of setting the fires is imminent.

Harvey was taken into custody by Inspector A. E. Frost of the forestry board. He will be arraigned at Oroville late today and charged with setting a timber fire near Robinson's mill, Butte county, which spread over 2000 acres.

Fires which broke out simultaneously in Butte, Glenn and El Dorado counties, including the one which destroyed the mining town of El Dorado, are believed to have been the work of firebugs. Rider said arrests are expected.

Rider gave out a statement warning that all responsible for forest fires will be prosecuted.

DRIVER DIES IN TRUCK WRECK

Clark B. Miltenberger Falls Under 7-Ton Machine on Verdugo Road

CLARK. B. MILTENBERGER, 1317 East Windsor road, died shortly after noon today, as the result of injuries received in a motor truck accident at 10 o'clock this morning.

The wreck occurred in the 2100 block on North Verdugo road. He was driving a seven-ton machine, and, when the brakes failed to work, he is believed to have jumped from the driver's seat.

Mr. Miltenberger was pitched under the wheels of the truck. As a result of the heavy machine passing over his body, his skull was fractured, his jaw was broken, his spinal cord was injured, his left shoulder was broken and four ribs fractured, in addition to numerous contusions and abrasions.

Passersby rushed the stricken man to the Glendale Research hospital, where he lingered for two hours, beyond surgical aid His body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Kiefer & Eyerick this afternoon.

Traffic Button a Trap Motorists' Complaint

Traffic buttons, skillfully or carelessly place at the corner of Doran street and Columbus avenue, are trapping motorists, according to complaints reaching The Glendale Evening News.

It is reported that more than a score of drivers have been cited to appear before Police Judge Lowe for failure to properly negotiate the weird turns required by the buttons.

Complaints to The Glendale Evening News are to the effect that traffic officers are watching the corner. Instead of warning drivers to observe the dangerous turns called for by the buttons, are handing them a ticket that calls for a trip to the police court.

It appears the corner is being used as a trap for motorists.

Honeymoon Ends When He Mends Undies in Public

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—Dr. George Albert Kohler, wealthy physician even during his honeymoon, believed that his wife should keep up to date with her family mending.

When she failed to do so, Mrs. Bertha Day Kohler, the wife, testified today in her divorce action, Dr. Kohler appeared one evening on the piazza of an exclusive lake resort hotel, where they were honeymooning, and, with needle and thread, proceeded to sew buttons on his underwear.

This notice to the world of her alleged shortcomings humiliated her, Mrs. Kohler said. Also, she testified, she was astonished, when they were married, to find that her husband had saved up half a trunkful of dilapidated socks, against the day when he had a wife who could mend them.

RAIL ISSUE DODGED BY COOLIDGE

Abandons Harding's Policy to Let Congress Deal With Problem

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Coolidge has decided to abandon one of the big policies of the late President Harding—that of compelling the railroads of the country to consolidate into regional systems, it was learned today from authoritative sources.

It is the first of the late president's major policies to go into the discard under the new administration.

Regional consolidation was the remedy for the railroad problem favored by Mr. Harding and Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee. It furnished the keynote for all of the late president's utterances on transportation matters during his fatal western trip. He dealt with it specifically and at length in Kansas City.

Reasons for Abandonment

It now appears extremely unlikely that congress will be asked to pass on the plan.

Various reasons are assigned for the abandonment of the proposal:

1 The strong opposition of most of the railroads themselves.

2 The even more strenuous opposition of the so-called La Follette group in the new congress, shared, too, by many of the more conservative western senators.

3 The feeling on the part of President Coolidge and some of his advisers that the best thing to do with the railroads at this time is to go slow in the matter of legislation.

Voluntary consolidation is now permitted under the transportation act for those roads that want it, and it is felt that to stage a

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 21.—"I have never taken part in a flogging in my life—the charge made against me in Governor Walton's military court is a deliberate falsehood."

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma Ku Klux Klan, in an exclusive interview today, vigorously defended himself against the charge of Dr. A. A. Maupin, a dentist, made before the military court in session here.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 21.—Bitter denial of Governor Walton's latest indictment against the Ku Klux Klan was expressed by the leader of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan here today.

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma, who is now charged with taking personal part in flogging parties, characterized the charge as "another framed attempt at libel and character assassination."

Jewett said it seemed to him that Governor Walton is using "every contemptible trick within his command to make a target of me as head of the Klan."

Reveals His Evidence

Governor Walton's latest sensational charges were contained in a transcript of the first evidence taken by the military board now in session in Oklahoma City conducting an investigation of the alleged domination of the Klan in the city and county.

The transcript of evidence was accompanied by a statement by the governor in which he said the necessary guns will be placed in the hands of every man in Oklahoma who is opposed to the Klan.

The high lights of the evidence, as revealed in testimony before the military court, were:

1 That N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma, according to the testimony of Dr. A. A. Maupin, a local dentist, and

ENGINEERS URGE SUBWAY SYSTEM

Branch of Glendale Line Would Afford Outlet for Hollywood Traffic

Plans for the construction of a subway system for the city of Los Angeles, that would be capable of handling the traffic congestion at this time and that would be capable of development to meet future traffic needs, are outlined in a comprehensive report that has been submitted to the Los Angeles City Council by Chief Engineer Fred A. Lorenz and City Engineer John A. Griffin in a joint report.

The plans call for the division of Los Angeles into rapid transit and local routes, and the entire system would be constructed in units.

Glendale Traffic

The movement that was started several years ago by Glendale to secure a subway system, that would facilitate the handling of the traffic from this point has borne fruit in the recommendation of the engineers to the effect that a subway be built from Eighth and Olive streets out Glendale boulevard, alongi the lines that representatives of this of this city have urged in conferences with Pacific Electric officials and others interested in the construction of a subway system. This subway would branch off from the main Glendale line at Sunset boulevard and would be constructed to care for the Hollywood-Venice traffic.

The report of the engineers recommends that the plans previously considered for the construction of a subway terminal at Pershing Square be abandoned on

Visit Glendale

Mrs. E. T. Byram and daughters Miss Ruth Alden Byram and Mrs. J. M. Banker, of 228 North Glendale avenue, are having the pleasure of entertaining as their guests this week Mrs. Margaret Byram Mallory, of Pasadena and W. W. Wainwright and E. D. Green of Connorsville, Indiana.

Mr. Wainwright, who is a cousin of the Bryams, accompenied by Mr. Green, motored across the continent, leaving home about the first of August, and stopping at various points of interest, Mr. Wainwright being especially interested in the historic ruins of the Indian tribes. This interest made the performance of "The Covered Wagon", which hosts and guests enjoyed at the Egyptian Theater at Hollywood Wednesday afternoon especially enjoyable.

Mr. Wainwright is a manufacturer in Connorsville and the trip to the coast is partially a business one. He and Mr. Green motored to Riverside Thursday and will spend some time touring Southern California.

The Glendale Canadian club dance given last night at the K. P. hall proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs given by the club. The entertainment committee, which included H. G. Hemphill, Frank Matthews and H. W. Groutage, are to be congratulated on the successful evening planned and arranged for by them.

The hall had been beautifully decorated with brightly colored streamers and arrangements of potted plants, ferns and cut flowers.

The music for the evening was furnished by the Kelly Shrine Club orchestra.

Tables were arranged for those who wished to play five-hundred.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, October 4.

PRINTERS HARD HIT BY COUNCIL

City Officials Put Them in Miles of Red Tape and Tie Tight Knots

Drastic specifications for city advertising and printing were adopted by the City Council last night and bids will be received on October 1.

The specifications are outlined in about 1000 words and bind the successful bidder so tight that, for his own protection, it would be better, perhaps, not to bid at all.

The successful bidder must submit proof sheets to city officials at specified times, no matter what other business he may have on hand; he must revise proofs and then permit the city officials to make revisions and—here's sad news for the printer—if the city officials fail to catch any error in the revised proof, the city will not pay for the mistake; the printer must pay for the loss himself!

Strict Regulations

All city advertising has to be grouped under one heading—which means that often extra pages must be put out by the successful bidder to carry the city's business. "No other matter shall be allowed to intervene between the parts of the city printing," says the specifications.

And here's more sad news for the printer:

He has to submit a bid for providing additional copies of all such public advertising as the city officials may designate, yet the city is "not obliged" to have such copies printed. Meanwhile, the printer has to keep a lot of matter "standing." At his own cost he must be prepared for any sudden "order" from city officials.

Also, the successful bidder has to put up $1000 bond that he will "faithfully" perform as directed by city officials. One little mistake—very easily made because of the multitude of "instructions" in the 1000-word "specifications," and it will cost the printer $1000.

But that's not all, for way down at the end of the "rules and regulations" is this gem:

"A breach of any one of the conditions or terms of these specifications shall be sufficient cause for the council to terminate such contract and relet the same."

Do you get it? The successful bidder is absolutely and positively at the mercy of the city officials, it is pointed out by some who have read the specifications. If the printer fails to follow out any one of his "instructions" from the city hall, why, wam! goes his printing contract—straight to a competitor! And it's liable to happen right in the middle of a hard winter, too.

The only things the specifications fail to specify are how low the printer must bid and what church he must attend. The former, evidently, is left to his prospective creditors to decide and the latter to his conscience.

Other cities in the state are paying, per inch, from 60 cents to $1 and more for their printing, while Glendale is paying less than half the smaller sum. And in other cities no prohibitive restrictions are required. If business men demanded the same restrictions, their advertising rate would be so high that the newspapers would be without advertisements.

No wonder the printers may be whistling:

"Yes, we have no city printing today."

Coolidge Abandons Harding Rail Policy

fight for compulsory consolidation at this time would be fraught with more danger than a majority in the congress cares to excite.

How It Happened

For a month past, prominent railroad officials have been quietly dropping into the White House to see President Coolidge. They have not descended in a body, but in groups of two and three.

These railroad officials have informed Mr. Coolidge they want nothing from the new congress except to be let alone. They are satisfied with the transportation act, as it stands, and they have told him that if the congress will only stop "tinkering" with the roads for a while they can "come back" of their own accord.

It is recognized, however, that the transportation act is to be subjected to a grand assault in the new congress by the so-called "radicals," led by Senators La Follette, Brookhart, et al.

There will be fighting enough in congress, anyway, in view of the widespread demand for a general revision of freight rates.

Fashion Center to Hold Birthday Sale

One year ago a new women's ready-to-wear shop opened its doors to Glendale shoppers at 202 South Brand boulevard. It was the Fashion Center, and to celebrate the success and happiness enjoyed during the first year in business in Glendale, a birthday sale is to be held at the store tomorrow from 9 in the morning until 9 at night.

Quality goods, popular styles and reasonable prices have been the three very good reasons for the prosperity enjoyed by the Fashion Center. Added to these have been courteous service and an ever present desire to please patrons and make new friends.

For the coming year this popular shop is making many plans for augmenting all lines of stock, in order that even greater progress will mark the second year's business.

SHAKESPEAREANS ENJOYED BY KIRKS

Visits to Stratford-on-Avon And Other English Cities Are Reported

mentioned in connection with the market prices of corn, wheat, cattle and hogs. Even yet it establishes the price of cotton and is the great cotton market. The big loads of merchandise hauled through its streets are marvels in size. Most of them are drawn by immense horses driven tandem, the driver walking at the head of the front horse.

"There are a few motor trucks. The city, of course, is very substantially built, but commerce is one of the last things we are thinking about on this trip, so I will say little about it. No man ever put out of his mind more completely his connection with the business world than I am doing.

Visit York Cathedral

"We find all the 'station' hotels the best we can get, so we are at another one of them here in York. It is a very old town, so gladly we put it on our list. It contains more relics of the Romans, who formerly occupied Britain, than any other city, and they are wonderfully fine.

"The York cathedral is the largest and best preserved of all the old cathedrals, and its stained glass is probably the oldest in any. The Roman walls, St. Mary's abbey and the castle are all splendidly preserved. The old Roman relics in the museums were of the deepest interest to me. Large mosaic floors, with borders and medallions in vari-colored stone, are very beautiful and priceless. The skeletons of prehistoric animals found in shale are to be seen nowhere else.

Have Gloomy Sabbath

"Stratford-on-Avon, England, August 21.—We spent Sunday quietly in York, attending service at an old Baptist church near the hotel. York abounds in old churches. The weather is still cloudy, rainy, cool and gloomy.

"Monday morning we took train again, changing trains at Sheffield, now a city of half a million, and transferring to the Great Western station through the business section of the great city of Birmingham. We reached this out-of-the-way place about 3 p. m.

"Using a taxi, we then visited the places of historic interest, the Shakespeare home, where we were in the birth room in which the great poet first saw the light in 1564, inspected the documents of his father and family, which seem to show its genuineness, saw the grammar school which he attended, the church where he reposes beside his wife, and Anne Hathaway's cottage; all of which are splendidly preserved.

Shakespeare Lives Again

"The atmosphere of the town is medieval, and the prevailing weather continues as previously reported.

"Last night we saw the 'New Shakespeare company' present 'Richard the Third,' in the 'Memorial Theatre.' It was a rich experience as the company was worthy of the great author. If you have a chance to see Baliol Holloway as Richard in this great play, don't miss it. Today we go to Oxford, tomorrow to London."

An account of the Kirks' visit in Oxford and London will be received in the next letter.

Audit of City Books Arranged by Council

Auditing of the municipal books for the present fiscal year will be done by Marwick-Mitchell & Company of Los Angeles, under an agreement reached last night by the City Council. A letter was read by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie from this firm, which offered to accept the responsibility of this audit for $600. For an additional fee of $100 a recapitulary report will be submitted. This will contain a summary of receipts and expenditures, together with such comments as are required by the substance and scope of the audit."

Striking Pressmen Suspended from Union

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—All striking New York printing pressmen were formally suspended today from the International Web Pressmen's union by George L. Berry, international president. He declared their "outlaw strike automatically suspended the charter" of the New York City union with 2500 members.

Vets' Bureau to Bear Costs of Funerals

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Expenses for funerals of indigent war veterans, to a sum not exceeding $100, will be paid by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, according to information sent to all posts of the American Legion by state headquarters. The information as to procedure was prepared by direction of Frank T. Hines, head of the Bureau.

CHURCH AIDS JAPAN

Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church, reports that the collection taken up last Sunday at that church for the Japanese sufferers amounted to $78.78, which was forwarded to the missionary board for distribution.

BANDITS GET FUND FOR U. C. CHARITY

more than five minutes warning. She had telephoned to me at 1:30 o'clock and she also communicated with the head of the fire department, who told her there was no danger, and there were men up there about 2:20 who also assured her there was no danger.

Spread Like Whirlwind

"John had come home from college and had changed his clothes and had started up on the hill to fight the fire on the hills, when he returned driving the car and calling to his mother to grab her clothes. He started up the hill and got the car out of the garage and by that time the fire was all around the place.

"It seemed to her it must have jumped a quarter of a mile, it came down out of the sky, evidently in the nature of a great whirlwind. Florence got a few of her own clothes in the machine and they had to go out through the fire on every side. Otherwise, everything was burned. Nothing is left but the columns.

Stayed on Campus

"The fire stopped at the campus. We stayed with various friends south of the campus last night. The Thomas place, just below us was saved. I arrived home at 3 o'clock and got up to our place which was all ablaze. I met young Thomas below and he said his place was gone, but I noticed that his place was not yet on fire.

"John was with me and we got up there and filled the bath tub with water and got blankets and got on the roof, saving the Thomas place. The Wilson place and the Maybeck place and all the other places are burned, and all below us almost to Shattuck avenue, and almost to the campus."

Loses All Belongings

Other word from the northern city has been received by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Russell of 332 North Kenwood street, from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart Russell of Berkeley. The A. Stuart Russells did not suffer from the fire although their home was but a block from the conflagration. But Mr. Russell's mother and sister, Mrs. M. D. Russell and Miss Louise Russell of Los Angeles, who had just arrived in Berkeley lost all their belongings in the fire. Miss Louise is in her final year at the university.

Berkeley to Build Better Water System

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—If a greatly increased water supply and a possible 300 per cent increase in water pressure can help matters any, there will be no repetition in Berkeley of the devastating fire that laid waste fully fifty residence blocks of the northern part of the city last Monday afternoon.

Fire Chief G. S. Rose announced today that City Manager John N. Edy had opened negotiations for the installation in the burned area of Berkeley of a gridiron system of water mains similar to the system that has been recently installed in Hollywood and which, the chief said, would provide at least three times greater water pressure than at present exists.

Search is being continued today for persons who have been missing since Monday's fire. Many University of California students have failed to appear at their classes since that time and a thorough check is being made in an attempt to locate them.

Name Patrol Leaders at Roundtable Meet

William Bogen, patrol leader of Troop 3 of the Boy Scouts, was host last night at a meeting of the officers' roundtable of the troop, called by Scoutmaster Weston Walker.

The business of the meeting was rearranging the patrols, the formation of a new patrol and the appointment of patrol officers and assistants.

Officers of the troop now are: Glenn Cunningham, senior patrol leader; Lyman Bosserman, scribe; Charles Bosserman, patrol leader; Richard Torrey, assistant patrol leader; Edward Schaffer, patrol leader; Albert Muskee, assistant patrol leader; Robert Ayars, patrol leader; Dewey McCourt, assistant patrol leader; William Bogen, patrol leader; Gordon Bevens, asistant patrol leader.

Buddy Bogen, 11 years old, was chosen as troop mascot.

At the close of the meeting the boys enjoyed ice cream and cake served by Mrs. Bogen.

The regular meeting of the troop is called for tonight at the usual time and place.

Subway System for Interurbans Urged

the ground that they are inadequate and that the capacity of such a system would not be sufficient to handle the traffic by the time the present system would be built.

Ask Appropriation

The Los Angeles City Council is asked to appropriate $10,000 for a survey to work out in detail the plans for a subway system to meet the demands imposed on Los Angeles by the ever-increasing growth of that city and others in southern California.

With the report is also submitted a plan for a city-wide subway system that would permit the Pacific Electric to divert a large part of its interurban traffic over the underground routes from the center of the city, thus relieving the congestion on the surface lines. The Pacific Electric, it is pointed out, is now carrying 196,000 passengers daily over the routes recommended in the engineers' plan, and the Los Angeles Railway is hauling 210,000 passengers over the proposed subway routes.

Christian Science Is Lecturer's Topic

Members of the Christian Science church will hear a lecture tonight on "Christian Science as Applied to Mankind," which is to be delivered by A. Hervey-Bathurst, C. S. B., at the Christian Science church at the corner of California avenue and North Maryland street at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Hervey-Bathurst is a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and his clear and convincing manner of presenting his subject in all its phases stamps him as one of the most brilliant pulpit orators of the day. The doors will be open at 7 p. m. to permit the crowds to secure seats in time for the opening of the lecture.

Lyman's Orchestra on Brunswick Records

Among the new records that have been produced by the Brunswick Phonograph company, and that are now on sale in the Brunswick Shop, 123 South Brand boulevard, are several that have been made by Abe Lyman's California Ambassador Hotel orchestra, according to an announcement by Wm. G. Bode, manager of the local store. These records were made here in southern California, and the Lyman orchestra is said to be the first coast organization to be selected for the production of the Brunswick records.

Extension of Canada Boulevard Is Plan

Initial action was taken toward the extension of Canada boulevard last night by the City Council. A petition requesting that this thoroughfare, which is regarded as one of the most attractive in Glendale, be extended to Verdugo road, was referred to City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy for checking and report.

"The extension of this boulevard is going to be the means of relieving the traffic congestion on Verdugo road," stated a communication from F. P. Newport of Los Angeles, pioneer subdivider of Verdugo Woodlands.

"It is going to be very beneficial to everyone in that community," he continued. "Kindly give this matter your consideration and act as expediently as possible.

"Since the initial circulation of this petition, the property lying north of Santa Maria avenue to Verdugo road has been acquired and bought by the F. P. Newport ompany. Plans of subdividers have been submitted to the engineering department of the City of Glendale. We are assured by the title company that certificate of intention of dedication will be ready by the first of the week. This portion of the petition will not be necessary.

Council Urges Aid for Suffering Japan

Approval of the quota of $3500 set in Glendale by the American Red Cross for Japanese relief was expressed last night by the City Council.

An official resolution on the subject, which was introduced by Councilman C. E. Kimlin, suggested: "That all residents and citizens of the City of Glendale be urged to contribute their time and funds in whole hearted co-operation with the aims and efforts of the American Red Cross for relief work in disaster-stricken Japan."

The preamble stated: "There has recently occurred in Japan a disaster unparalleled in the history of mankind, resulting in untold privation, loss of life, and the devastation of its principal cities, rendering thousands homeless and causing the spread of disease imperiling the lives of many more of its inhabitants. The nature of the calamity and its consequent distress arouses the compassion and sympathy of all humanity."

Klan Leader Hurls Lie to Walton Charge

member of the Klan, was a "member of a self-constituted squad of whippers."

2 That George W. Clark, district judge of Oklahoma county; J. K. Wright, county attorney, and Thomas Cavnar, county sheriff here, are now or were members of the Ku Klux Klan, according to their own testimony before the board.

(Judge Clark, although admitting he joined the Klan a year ago last May, insisted he did not consider himself a Klansman now.)

Alleges Wire Tapping

According to the testimony of Dr. Maupin, the telephone lines in Oklahoma City were frequently tapped by the Ku Klux Klan.

In making public the testimony, Governor Walton prefaced the transcript of evidence with the statement that Jewett and "his invisible empire shall not pass in this state."

"If necessary," the governor declared, "I shall arm every man in the state who is opposed to the Ku Klux Klan."

Dr. Maupin told the military he joined the Klan in April, 1920, but later quit the organization.

The Klan tried to get Jack Walton, then mayor, to join, Maupin said, but failed.

Trick Failed, Charge

"Jewett and a man named Mc Carron and three other fellows then planned to say Jack tried to get in and could not," the witneses testified.

Concerning this, Grand Dragon Jewett has said:

"Walton did not frown on the Klan until he learned that the Klan did not smile on him. It is a fact of indisputable record that he was irregularly made a member of the Klan and that, later, recognition was refused him."

Dr. Maupin related how he had been told by the high Klansmen of the whipping of a man named Merriman for alleged relations with another man's wife. Both the victim and the woman, Maupin said, protested innocence.

Lutherans Get New Home by Sept. 30

LA CRESCENTA

RAISE STANDARD OF MILK SUPPLY

P.-T. A. Members Discuss Plans for School Work Coming Year

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association for this year was a success from every standpoint, the gathering was larger than any ever before held here, and there was an unbounded enthusiasm that speaks well for a successful school year's work. The meeting was opened by the singing of the Parent-Teacher association song, called to order by the president, Mrs. Angier.

The first question under discussion was that of the milk supply for children's lunches. The committee have decided to order again from the same dairy as before, but where they had previously furnished grade A raw milk, this year, they will, for one month at least, supply a special grade at the usual school price of 4 cents a bottle. Speaking on this subject the principal, Mr. Blanford, requested the parents if possible to pay two weeks in advance for the milk, thus saving time in the bookkeeping department.

The serving of hot noon lunches to the children was discussed, but it was decided the time was not yet ripe for this project, on account of lack of facilities.

Plan for Reception

The president then introduced Mrs. A. Swain, chairman of the entertainment committee, who presented the question of a reception to be given in honor of the faculty. This received unanimous support and the reception is scheduled to take place two weeks from Saturday night, on October 6.

Mrs. Craig, chairman of the decorating committee requested the ladies who possessed Japanese parasols or lanterns to donate them for decorating the auditorium for the reception, and to kindly leave such articles at Mrs. Craig's home or bring them to the school auditorium the afternoon before the entertainment.

Speaking as chairman of the refreshment committee, Mrs. Polts asked for donations of the following supplies—cakes, sugar, lemon and orange juices, pineapple, these articles to be used in making the punch, and any mother who has any small tables, baskets, or plates to loan will be helping the Parent-Teacher association. It is planned to give the auditorium a cozy home-like air with the decorations and small tables. Mrs. Young assisted by Mrs. Adkins and Mrs. Hanson procured a great majority of the visitors as members of the Parent-Teacher association for the coming year, the fee being 25 cents.

Many Mothers Present

The count of mothers present representing the different rooms was as follows:

Mrs. Greenberg's room, La Crescenta, first grade, six mothers; Miss Conlin, La Crescenta, second and third grades, five mothers; Miss Rhue, La Crescenta, third and fourth grades, twelve mothers; Miss King, fifth A and sixth B, five mothers; Mrs. Mueller, seventh grade, eight parents; Mr. Blanford, eighth grade, eight mothers; Mrs. Boyer, Montrose, first and second grades, five; Mrs. Eyres, Montrose, third and fourth grades, four; Miss Renison, fifth B, La Crescenta, three; making a total of sixty-six mothers present.

Mr. Blanford, the principal, who was introduced by the president, spoke on the play-grounds it is hoped can be arranged, the manual arts training work, which will be in charge of Mr. Angier, Mr. Angier, who has charge of this work in the Los Angeles city schools, can only give time after school hours to La Crescenta pupils. Cards will be sent to the parents to sign if they are in favor of this arrangement, those who do not approve of it will have their children, from the fifth grade up, given this training by Mr. Blanford himself.

No Cones or Suckers

Speaking on the milk question Mr. Blanford assured the parents those paying in advance for this food would receive a mimeographed receipt so that Johnny or Mary would not be tempted to buy cones or suckers with their milk money.

The two term year for eighth graders was a subject ably discussed by the principal and any parents who are anxious for their eighth grade son or daughter to graduate in February will receive prompt attention, to their desires from Mr. Blanford if they will see him in one week's time. The principal also stated the carpenters have told him the half day sessions for La Crescenta small graders will be done away with in a week or ten days, the Montrose children having a longer wait.

The half day sessions for children in La Crescenta proper on the west side of the wash is from 8:30 to 12:20 p. m.; those in Montrose grades from 12:20 to 4:20 in the La Crescenta school.

An emphatic statement was issued to the effect that no small grader would be dismissed an hour earlier to go home with an older sister or brother who is dismissed at 3:30. Mr. Blanford drew attention to three urgent improvements included in the school; being a new stage curtain in the auditorium, domestic science equipment, and some ornamental shrubery in the front of the building. A program was then presented by pupils of the dramatic art section of the Cavanagh studios in Glendale, and enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Whittmore herself, concluded her pupils' program at the request of the Parent-Teacher association president.

Mrs. Wettmore read "Home" and "Melinda", the latter her own composition.

Mrs. Abba Burt presented a beautiful gold pin to Mrs. Young, who has been president of the Parent-Teacher association. A motion for adjournmeot being in order, a social time was spent over the punch and small cakes, old members greeting new ones and making them feel quite at home.

Any public-spirited resident who wants to donate a cake or cakes for the refreshments at the firemen's ball on Saturday evening, of this week, may leave it or them at the school auditorium late Saturday afternoon or get in touch with Mrs. Nettleton of Mayfield avenue. This dance is being given to raise funds to pay our fire chief for his past six months' labors fighting fires. The dance will be held in the school auditorium Saturday night, September 22.

Removal of Creamery Discussed by Council

The desirability of having the Calla Lilly Creamery of 521 Porter street moved out of the residential district was discussed at some length last night by the City Council.

Although this dairy is situated in a district restricted to first-class residences, the fact was brought out that it was established there before the zoning ordinance went into effect. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow expressed his opinion that the city administration could prohibit the enlargement of its plant.

A report that the Calla Lilly Creamery recently persisted in constructing a garage, objectionable to the neighbors, despite the refusal of the building department to grant the necessary permit, was received by the Council.

Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, and H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the building department, were instructed to investigate this matter under a motion introduced by Councilman W. A. Horn.

W. D. Rect of 1360 East Maple street asserted that the desire on the part of the residents of the district to have the dairy moved was not founded upon any personal animosity against its management. He stated that they probably would be willing to raise a bonus to help defray the expense of securing a location in an industrial district.

Improve Justin Ave. Request to Council

A petition for the improvement of Justin avenue from Kenneth to Tenth street was received last night by the City Council. Specifications call for three-inch macadam paving, gutters, curbs, and water pipe. The petition, which was referred to City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy for checking, was signed by the following interested property owners: Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wernette, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hellyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Will Johnson, and Henry J. Edwards.

Indications that Mexican diet may not be agreeing with Mayor Spencer Robinson of 1234 East Windsor road are contained in the following postcard received last night by the City Council and postmarked Guadulajara.

"I have lived eighteen years in Glendale. I want all chickens killed, all dogs vaccinated, all parks sold and then I want to be our park board. Glendale is the greatest city in the world."

PUBLIC!

Contrary to propaganda being spread by some of my competitors

I HAVE NOT GONE OUT OF BUSINESS.

Charles B. Guthrie & Company are still located at 110 W. Broadway, phone Glen. 1640, and doing a good business, and all our friends, and enemies, if we have any, are welcome to call and see how busy the boys are. We have recently put on four new salesmen who are ready, willing and able to take care of your business.

I did offer to sell the business, and advertised it at one time, but everybody who wanted to buy had much conversation and very little money, so there was nothing doing.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Tom Mix, hero of "Catch My Smoke," now being shown at the Glendale Theatre, offers a treat for amusement lovers. Not only is the story interesting but action, direction and photography excel and comedy abounds.

The plot concerns a returned world war veteran who discovers on his ranch a plot to do away with him. Further discovery leads to the fact that there is oil on the property. Then begins a bitter fight against unknown and treacherous enemies.

After six exciting reels Tom, with the help of his trusty steed Tony, rescues the girl of his dreams from her tormentors and comes into his own in a whirlwind finish.

The situations in "Catch My Smoke" are replete with excitement and the plot is ingeniously executed.

THE GATEWAY

"Lawful Larceny" shows at the Gateway theatre tonight. Announced as a story of a wife who loses her husband to a modern Cleopatra and wins him back again in startling fashion, it proves to be a piece of thoroughly enjoyable entertainment, well made and intelligently plotted.

In the cast are Hope Hampton, Lew Cody, Nita Naldi and Conrad Nagel, surely a capable quartet, each of them an individual star of many triumphs. Their work together in this sumptuous film is particularly admirable.

"Lawful Larceny" tells a dramatic story, that amuses and stimulates, aiming sharp darts of satire at the freedom of the modern marriage relation and making the victims laugh at their discomfiture.

Judge Chase Inspects L. A. County Jail

Justice Harry W. Chase of Burbank township, while on a visit to Los Angeles yesterday on official business, was escorted through the county jail by Henry Purrier, a former constable of the township and now employed in Los Angeles.

Justice Chase was taken to the identification room and was photographed by the official whose duty it is to take the pictures of the various felons who are the guests of the county. Both front and side views of Justice Chase were taken, with a number hanging on his breast, but the detail of taking his finger prints was omitted.

While in the jail he witnessed the return to his cell of Jess Taylor, the "slicker bandit," who was knocked cold in the courtroom yesterday when he tried to strike a deputy sheriff.

Train Derailed In Collision With Truck

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Santa Fe passenger train No. 41, en route to San Francisco from Fresno, struck a motor truck loaded with hay at a grade crossing near Avena, south of Stockton yesterday, derailing the engine, baggage car and smoker. The truck was damaged and its driver probably fatally injured. Two trainmen were also injured, according to reports at Santa Fe headquarters here, but no passengers were injured other than slight cuts and bruises due to the sudden stop of the train.

Pays $10 Fine on Charge of Assault

Harry Melidosian, an employe in a fruit store at the corner of Colorado and Adams streets, was fined $10 by Justice Harry W. Chase yesterday, and given a sentence of ten days in jail, suspended, on a charge of assault on his employer, Simon Pasgian, on September 16. The dispute arose over wages which Melidosian claimed were due him, and in the ensuing altercation Pasgin received a black eye, while Melidosian claimed that he had been cut twice with a knife.

Emel Block, charged with the theft of a tarpaulin from his employer, George L. Keading, 227 North Central avenue, was fined $10 by Justice Chase, when he entered a plea of guilty.

Want Pioneer Drive Residence District

Both sides of Pioneer drive between Central and Columbus avenues will be declared a first-class residential district if a petition, received at last night's City Council meeting, is put into effect. This will prohibit the use of this property for apartment houses or flat buildings and will restrict each lot to two dwellings or one duplex. Councilman C. E. Kimlin moved that the hearing on the subject be held October 4.

MINOR OPERATIONS

Minor operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Miss Ellen Unger, member of the nursing staff, Mrs. Lillian V. Wheeler, one of the patrons, and Mrs. Chester Martin of 309½ Ivy street.

SCOUTS' COUNCIL RECEIVE CHARTER

Official Presentation Made for National Body by Roy L. Kent

San Fernando Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, was officially presented with a charter on Frnday evening at San Fernando, from the National Council, B. S. A. The charter was presented in behalf of the National Boy Scout movement by Roy L. Kent, who, in addition to being the treasurer of the Verdugo Hills Scout Council, is a member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts.

Glendale was well represented at the charter presentation. Those in the official scout party were A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Council; Roy L. Kent, treasurer; Francis J. W. Henry, pep promoter, and Scout Executive Harold F. Benner.

Large Audience Present

The affair was held in Recreation Hall at San Fernando and more than 300 were present at the charter presentation. A delightful dinner was served by the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, which was followed by an interesting and inspirational program. The meeting came to a climax when team captains reported that the year's budget of $7,000 had been successfully raised.

The San Fernando Valley council is the newest first class council to be organized in Southern Clifornia. Its territory includes the cities of Lankershim, San Fernando, Van Nuys, Zelzah, Newhall, Mission Acres, Villa Vista, Saugus, Pacoima, Reseda, Owensmouth and Chatsworth. Mr. Delmar won Glahn is the scout executive. He was formerly the executive at Stockton, Calif.

The Kiwanis clubs of the San Fernando valley are sponsoring the movement in its infant stage, and it is largely through the enthusiasm and energy which they have instilled into their clubs for the Boy Scouts that has made the organization of the San Fernando Valley Scout Council possible.

Donations to Japan Relief Fund Grows

Glendale's Red Cross contribution to Japanese quake and fire sufferers now stands at $2778.55, with two additional $100 pledges from local luncheon clubs, reports Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the official drive.

The following are among recent subscribers to the fund:

$20—E. B. Wyman.

Coolidge Favorable to Rail Unification

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Coolidge favors the tentative plans of the interstate commerce commission to consolidate American railroads into a few major systems, it was learned Thursday, following a conference at the White House between the executive and N. L. Amstor of Boston, president of the Citizen Railroad league. Voluntary consolidation of the railroads was provided for by the transportation act of 1920, but thus far the carriers have been unable to agree upon any practical scheme of amalgamation.

Car Shortage Halts Grape Crop Shipment

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Sept. 21.—Eastern people who thirst for California's grape juice may continue thirsty.

With the picking of the great Sonoma county grape crop only begun, it was announced today that the available supply of refrigerator cars has been entirely exhausted and there is little prospect of additional cars.

Up until today 400 cars had been shipped and 3600 additional cars are in sight for shipment to eastern points. The car shortage has appeared earlier this year than last and, as a result, the grape growers are facing a huge loss as their entire crop had been sold at good prices to eastern buyers.

Bailiff's Punch Halts Slicker Bandit's Trial

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—In a near riot in a superior courtroom here yesterday, Jesse Taylor, notorious bandit, convict and "bad man," was "knocked out" by a blow from the fist of a court bailiff, whom Taylor attacked. Taylor was so badly injured by the blow that it was nearly an hour before he regained consciousness.

The row occurred when Taylor, appearing in court to plead on two robbery charges, was nudged by the bailiff to answer a question from the court. Turning quickly Taylor directed a blow at the bailiff, who dodged and countered with a stiff right to the chin. As a result of the prisoner being knocked out the hearing was postponed a week.

Boy Hurt in Crash of Wheel and Auto

While riding a bicycle about 7 o'clock last night Heath Church of 441 West Broadway, who is about twelve years of age, ran into an automobile occupied by Mrs. J. Maxey Pace of 446 Patterson avenue and driven by her grandson, Velpo Tender. The boy was unable to stop and circled around the automobile. His hand was cut upon the handle of the rear door on the right side of the automobile. This was broken off. The rim of his front wheel was broken and the right rear fender of the machine was damaged.

Goat Ordinance Is Asked by Councilmen

Goats next door are quite objectionable to Mrs. Marie Lyons of 820 South Mariposa street, who brought up the subject last night at the session of the city council. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow was instructed, upon a motion by Councilman C. E. Kimlin, to draw up an ordinance regulating the "conduct" of goats. Councilman W. A. Horn added that it should include regulations in regard to the keeping of rabbits and chickens. But nothing was said about dogs.

WOMAN DESCRIBES ARIZONA FLOODS

Mrs. R. N. Greenlaw of Glendale on Train in Severe Cloudbursts

Mrs. R. N. Greenlaw, of 621 North Geneva street, who went east on a short trip September 1, arrived home this morning 60 hours late out of Chicago, on the Santa Fe limited Missionary, No. 21, after being held up for two days at Winslow, owing to serious floods from severe cloudbursts in Arizona.

She was met at the Pasadena station by her husband, R. N. Greenlaw, a salesman for the Glendale Realty company, who reports that the train she was on narrowly escaped a washout that swept a ten-car freight into the ravine and tumbled Santa Fe limited California, No. 3, down a steep gully, killing the engineer, fireman, porter and barber.

"Late Monday night, while moving through Arizona, the train stopped suddenly and we could see water everywhere, from out the windows. As we waited tensely, rumors began to come. Then we learned of the ten-car freight, just ahead, that had been swept into the ravine.

"Hours of uneasy waiting followed. Finally we went on to Winslow, where we stayed in the yards until Thursday noon, enjoying excellent meals at the expense of the Santa Fe and getting acquainted with our neighbors. It was really a jolly time, considering everything.

"At last, early Thursday afternoon, we began to move and were routed south to the Southern Pacific lines and then into California. It was a picturesque though perhaps hazardous run and we enjoyed it."

SCENIC SPECTACLES OF HIGHEST SIERRAS ENTHRALLING!

D. L. GREGG GIVES HAWAIIAN HISTORY IN OLD DIARIES

Father's Documents of Early Fifties About Advising Kings, Are Treasured

By ELEANOR R. BLACKBURN
Of The Evening News Staff

Diaries, which it is expected will unfold some hitherto little known or understood phases of the efforts of Kamehameha III to have the Hawaiian islands annexed to the United States, have just been received by the Hawaiian historical commission from David L. Gregg, well-known hardware merchant, who resides at 240 North Central avenue, Glendale, according to an account appearing in the Honolulu Daily Advertiser of August 30.

The documents comprise the diaries and correspondence of Hon. David L. Gregg, an American diplomat in old Hawaii, covering a decade or more during the reigns of Kamehameha III and Kamehameha IV. Dr. K. C. Leebrick visited his son here and obtained the carefully-kept documents.

Commissioner to Kingdom

The Hon. David L. Gregg was the United States commissioner accredited to the Hawaiian kingdom several years in the middle fifties, according to the Advertiser's account, and later he served as minister of finance of Hawaii from 1858 to 1862. He was the representative of the United States who, with R. C. Wyllie, Hawaiian minister of foreign relations, negotiated the celebrated annexation treaty of 1854.

R. S. Kuykendall, executive secretary of the Historical commission, is quoted as saying: "Judging from Mr. Gregg's official position and his recognized ability, I think it is safe to predict that this material will shed much new light on a critical period in Hawaiian history.

Expresses Gratitude

"The collection is loaned to the Historical commission for historical purposes . . . and will be placed for safe-keeping in the territorial archives, where it will

Cablegram Reports Nancy Ann Lawson 'Arrived' Safely

A cablegram sped yesterday all the way from Honolulu, Hawaii, to inform Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson of 225 North Brand boulevard that a Miss Nancy Ann Lawson had arrived safely Thursday morning, September 20, 1923, at Luke Field, an island United States army air post.

The point of the story is that Miss Nancy Ann's arrival makes Lieut. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawson proud parents, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson equally as proud grandparents.

Mrs. Lawrence Lawson was formerly Miss Nancy Davis and her marriage to Lieutenant Lawson was a brilliant social event in San Francisco last year. After their marriage they spent several weeks with Lieutenant Lawson's parents in Glendale.

"Grandfather" and "Grandmother" Lawson are looking forward to entertaining their son and daughter-in-law and Nancy Ann this Christmas.

67 YEARS' BLISS OF LOCAL COUPLE IS CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Minnie, Sunset Club Members Married in 1856

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Member of The Evening News Staff

A romance of matrimonial happiness beginning over half a century ago is presented the people of Glendale by The Glendale Evening News Sunset club enrolling Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Minnie of 332 West Harvard street, who were married September 6, 1856 in the village of Newport, now Marine City, Michigan, when he was twenty years of age and his little sweetheart was only sixteen.

These sweethearts of the long ago are still sweethearts and only recently celebrated Mr. Minnie's eighty-seventh birthday, and their sixty-seventh wedding anniversary, September 5 and 6, 1923, at their Glendale home.

Born in Log Cabin

"I was born in a log cabin in the woods of Michigan, near St. Clair," says Mr. Minnie proudly. "My birthday was on September 5, 1836 and we were married on September 6, 1856."

"And I was born in a big, red brick house in Detroit, Michigan, February 2, 1840," echoes the sweet-faced, gentle, 'grandmother,' the bride on that September 6. My name was Elizabeth Diem."

After their marriage in Marine City, Mr. and Mrs. Minnie remained there until 1871 and then lived in Bay City and Detroit, while Mr. Minnie was engaged as chief engineer on the Great Lakes.

In California 10 Years

It was ten years ago that they came to California, which Mr. Minnie sincerely calls "God's country." They have lived in Glendale two and a half years.

They had five children, four of whom are living, Mrs. J. C. Kern of 332 West Harvard street, Glendale; Mrs. M. L. Veenfliet of Alpena, Michigan; two sons, Raymond J. Minnie of Eureka, Calif.,

Glendale Always Growing! Old Timer's Recollections Of Welcoming Newcomers

By OLD TIMER
Member of The Evening News Staff

THE slogan "Glendale, the Fastest Growing City in America" does not, as some think, describe conditions in the last few years only, but is applicable to days following the completion of the electric railway when Old Timer recalls that the population of 500, almost over night, grew into thousands.

An amusing illustratiton of this was related the other day by a man who came to Glendale about the same period as Old Timer. It was in the days of the old Glendale Improvement Association which pioneered in the work and filled the place that the Chamber of Commerce now occupies and was the center, in lieu of a municipal government, of civic, social and community life.

Amusing Incidents

It was shortly after the coming of the Pacific Electric, which had solved the problem of transportation. The influx had been so great that the officers in making up the program became confused.

It was the annual custom in those days to hold a social affair to welcome the newcomers. A few months after his arrival in 1905 this man found himself scheduled to make the welcoming address to the newcomers. Protesting that he was one of the newcomers himself, it is needless to say that the new citizen, who had been active in the affairs of the rapidly growing community, rose nobly to the occasion and cordially welcomed himself to the city of Glendale.

Another incident similar in character is related. Two ladies were assisting to make a large "Welcome" sign to be placed above the rostrum on this same occasion, and their conversation revealed that they would serve in a double capacity. They, too, would welcome and be welcomed.

Tribute to Pioneer

But to return to the improvement society. Of its organization Old Timer has not the data at hand, although they have been preserved. The late Edgar Leavitt was the president at the time, about 1905.

A tribute to this pioneer at this point might not be amiss. A retired minister, a missionary to Japan for many years, Mr. Leavitt was the owner of a ten-acre ranch situated at the corner of First street (now Lexington drive) and Glendale avenue, and had interested himself in all efforts made for the improvement of conditions in the valley and for the advancement of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt at this time occupied the picturesque home still standing on Glendale avenue, known as "The House of the Whispering Pines," three large trees west of the house giving it this name. It is now occupied by Commodore Claude Putnam and family.

Mr. Leavitt was also an attorney and stood for the best in civic, cultural and religious life. He was a student to the last. An interesting incident is related of his studious habits. It was his custom while cultivating his ranch to carry in his pocket a few pages from a Spanish text book, dismembered for that purpose, for perusal during intervals of rest.

Widow Survives

Mrs. Leavitt, who survives her husband, is still a resident of Glendale, and just as she stood shoulder to shoulder to him in those days, she still takes an active interest in all that makes for civic betterment.

As memory recalls this occasion, in addition to Mr. Leavitt, the faces of E. D. Goode, G. W. Woodbury, J. C. Sherer and their good wives and many others flit across the screen and one realizes that the Glendale of today, and what the great city of Glendale is destined to be, owe much to the vision of these pioneers..

STAGE GODMOTHER PROTECTS KIDDIES

Mrs. Marie M. Lyon of This City Is Deputy Labor Commissioner

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff

Glendale boasts the guardian angel of the little players in theatricals, Mrs. Marie M. Lyon, deputy state labor commissioner, who resides at 820 South Mariposa street, and has offices in Los Angeles.

It is this fair-haired, kindly faced godmother who perforce must travel through the shadows of the alleys leading to stage entrances to see that the law regarding children is not violated, for it is in the vaudeville houses in particular, that the most trouble of the labor bureau is encountered.

New rulings became effective September 1, 1923, regarding theatrical permits for minors, the some having been enacted by the California legislature at its session early this year. They represent an honest attempt on the part of the lawmakers to prohibit tiny tots from exploitation in dancing acts and other clever performances in which their little bodies are wearied by three to five appearances a day, as well as being kept out at all hours of the night.

Here Are Rules

Mrs. Lyon states that no children under 11½ years of age can, under any circumstances, have permits to appear on the stage at paid performances. Those 11½ and up to 16 can have per-

THIRTY TEACHERS ADDED TO LOCAL SCHOOL SYSTEMS

Glendale High Strengthens Faculty; Four Get Leaves of Absence

By ARTHUR SHERBORNE
Member of The Evening News Staff

Thirty more teachers are required this term in the two local school systems in order to assist the youth of his community in its struggle, more or less arduous, to acquire an education.

Glendale Union High school now has seventeen new teachers on its faculty. This is due largely to the increased enrollment.

Four teachers, who have been granted leaves of absence, are as follows:

Miss Mary Beth Abbott, head of the fine arts department, is now studying in New York. She spent the summer in Europe. She is expected to return before the end of the semester.

Seeks Doctor's Degree

Henry M. Burlage of the science department is studying this year at the University of Indiana. He will return when he has acquired his doctor's degree.

Frederick Borncamp of the mathematics department now is studying at Harvard.

Miss Florence Knight, director of the girls' physical education, is attending Columbia.

Miss Dorothy Gilson, who had a year's leave of absence to study in Rome and Paris, has returned and is teaching Latin and French. New teachers are as follows:

Miss Francis Ahl of 1001 Orange Grove avenue has joined the history department. She is an honor graduate from the University of California where she received her master's degree. She taught last year at Eureka High school. Several articles by Miss Ahl have appeared in "The Historical Outlook."

Herman Wiebe of 438 Burchett street also has joined the history department. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska and received his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. Prior to coming to California he was head of the modern language department of Bethel college, Newton, Kan. For sev-

Eastern Glendale Residents Suffer From Two Mishaps

RESIDENTS of eastern Glendale were afflicted late yesterday by two unusual accidents.

Some doughty motorist smashed a fire plug at the southeast corner of Colorado boulevard and Verdugo road, creating a geyser, rising 25 feet high and showering perfectly good medicated city water over scores of automobiles passing by for a period of a half hour.

Then the public service department disconnected the main and allowed hundreds of homes to go thirsty at dinner hour.

An East Broadway Pacific Electric car played a caper also at 5:30 last evening, which delayed about thirty home-bound passengers. The front trucks switched over to the East Broadway tracks, while the rear trucks proceeded up North Brand boulevard.

It took the combined effort of all the newsies to tell the train crew how to dislocate the stranded car.

ROTARIANS HEAR FLAG EXTOLLED

Rev. Ernest E. Ford Instills Patriotism by Speech on Constitution

Rotarian Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glendale, addressing the local Rotary club yesterday noon at their weekly luncheon in Jensen's Egyptian Village declared:

"There is no room in America for any flag but the Stars and Stripes. There is no room here for soapbox orators who preach against the very institutions that banner symbolizes. If they don't like our country, there are plenty of steamers sailing from our ports, and there are plenty of tickets!" His statement was greeted by loud applause, followed by ensemble salute to the flag.

Rev. Ford stated that he was

NATURALIST SEES BRIDGE OF SNOW AND GRANITE SEA

Waterfalls Spout in Glacial Bowls Hidden Away From Auto Paths

By CHARLES E. HUTCHINSON
Well known Glendale naturalist, who resides at 246 N. Orange St.

A wholesome desire on the part of the public to seek in primitive life escape from artificial conditions of modern living is seen in the many automobiles traversing mountain roads; but the means employed are insufficient, since only an inconsiderable part of the best that nature offers is made accessible by this means.

The writer, who aims to see the best, has lately returned from a ten-weeks' trip, covering some 250 miles of mountain trails with pack animals. The route taken commenced at Bass lake, in Madera county, and followed a northerly direction through Yosemite park, which in itself is fifty miles wide, then easterly nearly to the crest of the Sierras.

Nature Scatters Jewels

From this point the route took a southerly and easterly course to Owens valley, and finally westerly to Huntington lake, ending in King's river canyon to the south. Not all of the region traversed was found of special interest, as nature has not put all her jewels in one place.

The first impressive view was had from the summit of Buena Vista pass, where the higher regions to the eastward loom up like a titanic ocean of gray granite and ivory snow. It is here, along the west slope of the Sierras, that granite domes are common in the landscape; while further east near the crest, wild and jagged summits tower.

Seeing Hetch-Hetchy

Passing without stop through the Yosemite valley, with which we were already familiar, we went on to Tuolomne canyon, which we entered at a point known as Pate valley, dropping some 5000 feet in two miles. A good view of the upper end of Hetch-Hetchy was had on the way down.

This section of the Tuolumne was formerly the romantic home of an Indian tribe, as various signs indicate. Rooted here is

Japs Urged to Drink Milk and Grow Tall

The opinion that occidental diet influences Japanese ambition, which was advanced through The Glendale Evening News about a month ago through an interview with F. Emmanuels, is confirmed by Atsushi Miyawaki, chief of the dairying and meat technology department of Japan. He is now in Sacramento arranging for the wholesale exportation of California dairy cattle to furnish a better milk supply for Nipponese babies. He stated that the new slogan of the Island Empire is "Drink Milk and Grow Tall."

Mr. and Mrs. F. Emmanuels, who were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Philp at 650 North Kenwood street, are now in San Francisco. They have had their plans to return to Japan somewhat disrupted by the earthquake.

Thank you! It was good.

Evening Frock

Canton crepe is always in favor because it is serviceable and yet looks "dressy." This dress is made of black canton crepe and built on very plain lines. However, it is given a very smart appearance by the dexterous use of black satin ribbon. A band of this trimming down the front of the costume gives it that touch of distinction which the well-dressed woman insists upon having. The same idea carried out around the bottom of the skirt gives it a unique hem line. The tiny sleeves are also edged with ribbon. The neck is finished with a narrow binding of self-material. A two-inch sash of black satin ribbon which ties in a loose knot at the left side adds the finishing touch to the frock.

Well Combined

Of all the summer clothes that fill one's summer wardrobe none are more important or useful than sports suits. This model is smart in appearance and its practicality may be seen at a glance. The fiber silk sweater coat has a deep conventional design on the sleeves and the bottom of the coat. It also boasts the wide sleeves which are being used on all the newer sweaters. The skirt, which is made of a dainty printed material, is perfectly plain with just a slight fullness at the waist. A dainty hand made blouse, smart two-tone slippers and a jaunty felt hat are in harmony with the rest of the costume.

NAPOLEONIC HATS

Reminiscent of Revolutionary days is the hat of black velvet, combined with a brim of black faille silk. Cockades of silk braid aid to its military air.

STREET ATTIRE

Modern versions of street attire reflect oriental innovations.

With the Women of Today

Miss Millicent Girling, twenty-one years old, of Waterford, Ireland, is the designer of the latest stamps for the Irish Free State of the 4 and 9 pence denominations. This fact was brought out at a recent philatelic exhibition held in London.

Miss Girling's design has the merit of effective simplicity. The background is a shamrock on which appears a shield containing the arms of all the provinces. The word "Ireland" in Gaelic is above the shield and the denomination below.

Miss Millicent Girling.

Miss Girling qualified as technical instructor in the Irish Department of Agriculture as well as a certified teacher under the Board of Education. She was an art student at the time, having won a scholarship in the Dublin School of Art.

"BLESSED ARE THEY THAT MOURN"

While the whole nation will feel keenly the loss of President Warring G. Harding, it will be Mrs. Harding, the frail wife, who will miss him most and will long "for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still." In her recent serious illness the picture of the strong man anxiously and tenderly bending over her unmindful, for the time being, of the affairs of state, touched the heart of the nation and endeared him to us. And now he is gone she mourns—not for the statesman whose policies influenced the whole world—but for the protecting care—she is just another grief-stricken widow who mourns for her "man."

"May all love, his love, unseen but felt, o'ershadow thee;
The love of all thy people comfort thee,
Till God's love set thee at his side once more."

TURBANS POPULAR

October winds will hold no fear for the wearer of the smart turban, it is so close fitting and smart. A fan-shaped feather ornament at the back is the last word in fashion.

EVENING HATS

Paris is, as usual, showing the evening hat, which in the past has always been of greater interest to the Parisienne than to the American woman.

COAT MATERIALS

Ultra smart long coats are being fashioned of striped woolens and collared with becoming soft fur.

SLEEVE DICTATES

As for sleeves, the long, fitted one is used for street and general wear, while many afternoon dresses retain the elbow length.

Wraps for dress and service share originality of style.

N. A.: "Divinity Frosting— Boil together two cups of sugar, one-half cup of crystal-white karo syrup and one-half cup of hot water until the mixture cracks when a little of it is dropped into cold water. Beat two egg-whites stiff and slowly add them to the sirup (off the stove). Be careful not to let the frosting get too hard before spreading. One teaspoon of vanilla extract may be added to it just before spreading on cake."

E. S.: "Southern Corn Pone— Mix together one quart of sifted cornmeal, one teaspoon of salt, three teaspoons of lard (melted) and enough water to make a soft dough. Mold this dough with the hands into oblong 'pones,' which are one inch wider in the middle than at the ends, and rather flat. Bake these pones on a well-greased pan in a good, hot oven till they are a delicate brown—about fifteen minutes. Eat them hot, breaking them with the fingers (never cut them)."

K. McC.: "Frosted Cottage Pudding—Cream together one cup of sugar and a piece of butter the size of an egg; add three egg-yolks and one egg-white (keep the two left-over egg whites for frosting), then add one cup of sweet milk and two cups of flour which have been sifted with one heaping teaspoon of baking powder. Flavor with one-half teaspoon of lemon extract. Bake thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven in loaf form. While still hot, frost with the following: Beat the egg-whites stiff and beat into them one cup of sugar and a drop or two of lemon extract (or vanilla). Put this uncooked meringue on the cake very thickly as it is the dressing for the pudding. Eat warm. We like this better than a liquid sauce."

"A Mother": "Fruit Cake Without Spices—Cream together one cup of sugar and one cup of lard; add three eggs well beaten, one cup of cream (or you may use canned cream diluted with cold water in equal parts), one cup of blackberry jam, one cup of seedless raisins, one cup of dates cut small and stoned, one cup of almonds broken small, and three and one-half cups of flour sifted with three and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Turn the batter into a greased pan (this makes a large cake) and bake in a moderate oven for one hour and twenty minutes—or perhaps a little longer."

Tomorrow—Knitting a Multi-Colorded Jacquette Sweater.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

AFTER A "GOOD CRY"

The good hard cry that brings such emotional and nervous relief too often brings sore red eyes and a headache and a general feeling of looking like a fright. Yet, we all cry at times and we all hate to show it afterwards, so we should all know ways of concealing the traces of our tears.

Bathing the eyes and face in cold water will help a little, if nothing but cold water is handy. But holding a compress of hot water over the eyes is much better, because the heat soothes the nerves and brings fresh blood around the eyes and temples. And holding compresses of hot boracic water is best of all, for boracic is very soothing indeed. A tablespoonful of the powder to a basin of water is enough. The compress should be any soft old cloth; a worn out Turkish towel makes an ideal one.

Even this isn't always enough. Some women look like bright-eyed little birds when they cry, but most of them simply have inflamed eyelids and a red nose and look like the frights they feel. Try washing the eye-balls themselves by using an eye cup and warm or cold boracic solution, or else try cold weak tea. Tea is splendid for this. It seems to soothe and stimulate, too. If you happen to have vanishing cream, rub a little around the eyes and the nose, wipe off well and powder thickly; powder even the eyelids. This covers up the stubborn shine that the skin takes after a long cry.

If you feel really nervously exhausted by a cry, take a hot bath, and a cup of hot strong tea, or coffee, though tea is better, and lie down. This will cure a headache, too. But the hot boracic compresses, followed by rinsing with cold water and tea in an eye-cup, will quickly do the trick.

Helen M. B.: The powder made from almond meal, starch and borax is to be used for cleansing enlarged pores in which there is a tendency to form blackheads. Sprinkle some of this powder on a dampened cloth and use just as if it were soap; or dampen a little of the powder and rub it into the soiled pores, using the finger tips. Follow such a treatment by using a cream to soothe the skin. Close the pores after this with very cold water or with an ice rub.

Hints for a hasty freshening up.

W. A. L.: A girl of seventeen years, height five feet four inches, will be normal weight between 115 and 120 pounds.

Tomorrow—Hasty Hints.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fifteen and have been invited to go on a picnic with a group of my school friends. There are three boys and three girls going. Our plans are to go to some lake near by and take our picnic lunch. We will go swimming, fishing, boat riding, etc.

Don't you think it would be all right to go if we are home by 9 o'clock? D. F. M.

You are too young to go to such a picnic unless an older person chaperones.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We had a party at one of my friend's homes on Saturday night. One of my best boy friends asked me to be his partner that night.

When the first game was played in which they had partners he was nowhere near and another boy asked me to be his partner. As he was not around, I accepted, thinking that I should take the first one.

Now the first one seems angry. Was I right in taking the one who asked me? T. C.

Unless the boy who took you to the party had neglected you the first part of the evening you ought to have given him a little more time in which to get to you before the game was played. It was quite natural, however, for you to go into the game with some one else if he was not in sight and you had not seen him for some time. He really has no cause to be angry, since he was not around to claim you at the beginning of the game.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen and have been going with the sweetest girl of sixteen in this town. We loved each other from "school kids" up until now, but lately she is going with other fellows who have cars. I haven't any car and so I can't take her to other towns like fellows who have, but I do the best I can as far as my means will allow.

We are supposed to be engaged to marry in a couple of years, but the way it looks she means to throw her promises to the four winds, which seems as easy as the promise made by her. It is making a rover of me, restless, careless, unable to stick to a job.

I have been thinking of enlisting in the army for three years. Do you think it will change her attitude toward me to leave her with other fellows and disappear out of her sight? I dearly love this girl and will do anything to gain her love and respect.

Do you think she loves me? She gets very angry at me if I go with other girls and she wishes me all sorts of bad luck and says she hates me. But she keeps on the watch all the time as to what I am doing. I am forever thinking of her and it drives me mad.

JILTED SUITOR.

If you enlist in the army, the chances are that when you return after three years you will find the girl married to some one else. Probably your lack of purpose and attitude toward life are a greater handicap than the fact that you have no automobile. You give up too easily and do not try to hold your own in competition.

My advice is to go with other girls and try the very best you can to have a good time. Also double your efforts at work so that you will advance and amount to something. When the girl sees that you are full of energy and show signs of getting on in the world she will be just as impressed with your character as she is with the fact that some other young man owns an automobile. Her love seems to have faded at present, but it can be revived.

Have too much self-respect and courage to be drowned in life merely because you are disappointed in a girl. Prove yourself worthy of good things and they will come to you.

Communists Flood Russia With Soviet Propaganda To Convert Ignorant Mass

By JOHN L. SPIVAK
For International News Service

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—The greatest propaganda machine ever organized in the world's history operates in Russia today to convert the great mass of Russian people to the Communist ideal.

On the success of this effort depends, in a great measure, the continued life of the Soviet government.

To accomplish the conversion the Communists employ two distinct methods:

First, to establish firmly the Workers' and Peasants' government.

Second, and of less importance at present, to teach the alleged advantages of living communistically.

Peasants Were Unprepared

Experience taught the leaders that the peasants and workers were unprepared for a communist state. The peasant and the worker wanted not ideals but bread.

Before the Russian could be taught to live communistically before the ingrained experience of thousands of years of competitive living could be eradicated, years, perhaps generations, would pass. And in the meantime the state might not survive.

Hence the appeals chiefly to the communist ideal were dropped and the more practical nationalistic and personal-advantage appeal for support of the Workers' and Peasants' government begun.

Now nationalism is one of the chief appeals by idealists whose basic principles call for internationalism.

Ownership is Emphasized

The process is first to impregnate the Russian with the belief that Russia is really his country, that the land and everything in it are his, and that in order to derive the greatest benefit from this the peasant should co-operate with the factory worker and the city dweller and vice versa. He is persistently informed that all workers' interests are the same.

To the end of winning the mass of Russians to the support of the Workers' and Peasants' government, speakers, newspapers, pamphlets, posters, every available means devised by human ingenuity are used. Peasants, factory workers, soldiers, village and city dwellers are constantly confronted with the assertions that through their soviets they rule.

No counter propaganda is tolerated by the government.

In the political and economic field only Communist newspapers are allowed to exist. Freedom of speech, press and assemblage, so far as political and economic matters are concerned, does not exist in Soviet Russia today. In other fields of endeavor freedom of speech and press is encouraged by the state as a primary need for progress.

Opposition Is Squelched

But in the economic and political fields the communists aim to give their government a real working opportunity as against "capitalistic governments," and consequently suppress with a strong hand all counter propaganda.

The governments of the rest of the world, being capitalistic, desire the overthrow of their state, say the communists; and were freedom of speech, press and assemblage, admirable enough in themselves, permitted at present, the country would be flooded with anti-communist propaganda which would only necessitate continued fighting on their part to enforce their ideal.

The Gap-Pay-Oo, the political secret police (formerly the Cheka) acts as the watchdog of the republic and is constantly on the lookout for anti-communist or anti-Soviet symptoms within the republic. All books, papers, manuscripts, etc., entering Russia are closely scrutinized by them.

The communists take no chances of anti-government propaganda. They follow ruthlessly the czar's methods of suppressing what does not meet with their approval.

Sunset Club Couple Married 67 Years and R. W. Minnie of Arkansas; and four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Both these fine old people are in exceptionally good health, and last winter enjoyed a visit to their old homes in Michigan, and on June 7 of this year returned from a trip east.

They are beloved members of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, and Mr. Minnie is justly proud of his life membership in the Royal Arch Masons, No. 129, of Bay City, Mich. He is also an active member of the Glendale Horseshoe club.

Club Will Honor Them

Since they have both become members of the Sunset club, it is most fitting that Mr. and Mrs. Minnie be honored at the September meeting of the club, which is anticipated for next week.

It is hoped that the club members can get together Monday, Wednesday or Thursday afternoon of next week and we are now waiting for some one to volunteer as hostess. The meeting will be from 3 till 5 o'clock, and will include visiting, an impromptu program and refreshments.

George M. Walton, 80 years of age, of 601 North Kenwood street, is also being received into the club. Mr. Walton was born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He came to Glendale four years ago. He comes from a family of twelve children, seven girls and five boys. He is the last member of this family. The club will welcome him at the next meeting.

A beltless contour is new for afternoon dresses.

EAGLE ROCK

WEST END P.-T. A. SEASON STARTED

Scope of Association's Work Is Outlined in Paper By Principal

The fall meeting of the West End Parent-Teacher Association opened at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, at the school house, with Mrs. Gertrude Dust, principal, in an interesting informal talk on "What the Parent-Teacher Association Can Do," pointing out that there are many ways this organization can help, during the months ahead, in harmonizing the trinity of pupils, parents and teachers.

Meetings are to be held monthly during the school year, it was announced. New members are always welcome and their ideas eagerly sought. It was pointed out that, though some of the confusion over the boundary line had been settled, there still remained room at the San Rafael school for additional pupils, while it is well known that both the Eagle Rock and the Dahlia Heights schools are overcrowded.

October 7 Is Rally Day

The Congregational Sunday school is making plans for a big celebration on Rally Day, feeling that by then all vacations will have terminated and a full attendance can be had.

A large program is planned for the first quarter of the new Sunday school year and every child is wanted present on that morning not only to start the term right but to hear the children give some account of the wonderful times they had during the summer.

Should building permits continue to be issued at the present rate, for the remainder of the month, another record will be shattered, according to information received at the building office, where it is of record that twenty permits, totaling $58,780, were issued in one week.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lacey and son are visiting Mrs. Lacey's mother, Mrs. Smiser, 5127 Windermere avenue.

Howard A. Miller of 143 Acacia avenue has moved to a ranch at San Fernando. He is at present on a Big Bear camping trip.

Mrs. Alice Barman, who recently spent four months in the Yosemite national park, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. E. Arbogast, of 212 North Highlands avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Weatherall and sons are enjoying an outing at Hermosa Beach.

Mrs. Marion Thompson is back from a brief trip to San Diego.

Miss Mildred Lerchen of Campus road is back from an extended eastern trip that took her to Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Albany, New York, Washington and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sampson of 141 Glen Eyrie avenue are back from a northern trip that took them as far as Eureka. They report delightful scenery and unforgetable impressions.

Rotarians Addressed on U. S. Constitution

addressing the club in behalf of the American constitution, the American Bar association and other political and patriotic associations having decided that they would inaugurate "Constitution week".

Gives Meaning of Word

Rev. Ford pointed out that the derivation of the word "constitution" shows it to mean "stand with, or together." "The constitution outlines the limits of executive, legislative and judicial power," he said. "The constitution binds the forty-eight states together into an integral whole. It is the work of Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration of Independence.

"The amendments are an integral part of the constitution, just as vital as the original document itself. No amendment can be violated without dishonoring the Stars and Stripes."

W. E. Hewitt, who followed Rev. Ford, referred to the constitution as the sovereign power designed for the guidance of the United States. "If the Reds owned their own homes, they wouldn't be Reds," he said, in urging a higher type of citizenship, through community development.

Talks on Ethics

Attorney Owen C. Emery called on George Bentley, C. C. Cooper and Gil Cowan to give brief talks on business standards of the profession or vocation in which they were engaged. Mr. Bentley responded by reading the code of ethics proposed for the National Retail Lumbermen's association. Mr. Cooper paid tribute to the Rotary club for raising business standards, using the golden rule as a fundamental, and Mr. Cowan briefly sketched the controlling influences in newspaper editorial rooms.

It was announced that Paul Carson, David G. Crofton, Ruie E. Downing and A. R. Eastman would talk on ethics. President George B. Karr also appointed V. M. Hollister, Preston Hatch, J. Herbert Smith, Ruie Downing and William A. Howe as a committee on intercity meetings.

Opportunity for Exercise

George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High school invited the Rotarians to form a volley ball team at the school gymnasium and J. I. Wernette took a deal of pleasure in passing out candies from a five pound box contributed by the Albert Sheetz Mission Candies store in the Jensen's Shops building.

The following visiting Rotarians were present: Bob Steen and Otto G. Wildey of Los Angeles, W. B. Davis of Aurora, Ill., and Glendale, Harry Chapman of Richmond, Calif., and Charles E. Royal of Vancouver, B. C.

BURBANK

SCHOOL SYSTEM TAXED TO LIMIT

Enrollment Has Reached 1500 With More Students Yet to Come In

With the first two weeks of school now over, Burbank finds its educational facilities more crowded than ever. The Thomas A. Edison school is very full, Superintendent Collins reports, although the schedules are gradually yielding to treatment.

A room on the upper floor of the John Muir school, formerly used for chemistry, is now being put in condition for a classroom, and another teacher will be added to the staff and put in charge there.

Close to 1,500 pupils are now enrolled in the city's schools, with prospects of still further increases before October 1, as a number of families are still away on their vacations.

Numerous Glendale pupils are using the Burbank schools because of convenience, Superintendent Collins reports, the Board of Education receiving from the state school fund $50 for each of these pupils.

Defectives Captured

The Burbank police department is to be congratulated, residents feel, on the efficient dragnet they have thrown about the municipal environs, a number of defectives and criminal types running foul of it recently.

Of these, a man giving his name as Phillip Schmitter and his address as Burbank, was arrested recently for impersonating an officer. Another, who claimed to be Louis Boe of Bakersfield, was attempting to flag an auto along the San Fernando boulevard, going in that direction, when his peculiar conduct attracted the officers.

Boe said he came from Long Beach. Communication with that city developed the information that one Louis Graham had been treated for a mental ailment. Boe is being held for further observation, and the Burbank police, through their chief, John H. Long, warn motorists not to take any passengers who hail them along the road, particularly on long trips over lonely mountains, like the Bakersfield run, as by so doing they are risking theft and even murder.

Schmitter, who was arrested on suspicion of attempting to impersonate an officer, may prove to be the party who approached the car of Mr. and Mrs. Tipton, outside the Florence cafe, at 11 o'clock one night recently, dressed in citizen's clothes but carrying a gun and a pair of handcuffs. He may also prove to be the party who, in much the same regalia, turned Mr. Cochran out of his home and sent him running to Judge A. A. Crawford for assistance.

"It is just such demented or drug-crazed defectives as have recently come to the attention of the police department," states Chief Long, "who are committing the atrocious crimes that occupy the headlines of the papers throughout the country, and Burbank is determined not to have them operate in this city."

PRIZES TO RAIN DOWN FROM SKY

Smith-Sloan, Inc., to Give Away Premiums to Holders of Lucky Numbers

Those who want to get something for nothing will be out in force tomorrow, Saturday, September 22, when Charles Davis, a member of the Smith-Sloan, Inc., organization, 228 South Brand boulevard, Willys-Overland agents, flies over the city and rains down a shower of tickets, some of which will entitle the lucky holders to participate in the $500 prize awards that the firm is going to give away.

Some of the cards will bear numbers that will permit the holders to receive cash prizes, others will win automobile accessories, and still others will be allowed a rebate on the price of a Red Bird Overland automobile bought any time after tomorrow.

The flight will start at 2:30 from the Glendale flying field on the San Fernando road, where Mr. Davis has his plane stabled, or housed, as the case may be, at present, and Glendale residents are advised to be on the lookout to grab some of the lucky tickets as they come fluttering to earth.

Wire nails were first made on a large scale in the United States about 1876.

RADIO
BY FRANK CHAPMAN

A COURSE IN RADIO

As stated in the last lesson, ere are two properties that can changed in an electric circuit hich will change the wave ngth. They are capacity (the ility to store electric energy in e form of a charge), and the roperty of inductance which acts ke a weight to check the rapid- y of motion of current back and rth in the circuit. Condensers ve the capacity and are made various sizes. Coils or turns wire are used for inductances. ll wires have the property of ca- acity, but the values are too nall to be considered in practical ork.

Radio waves (electro-magnetic) e produced by the use of high oltage, high frequency currents. he frequency employed ranges om 1,500,000 to 15,000 oscilla- ons per second. Radio currents ve such a high frequency that they are allowed to pass through telephone receiver they are in- udible because they have a fre- uency above 10,000 cycles and e human ear does not respond that frequency. Thus, current ith a frequency above 10,000 cy- es is called radio frequency and at with a frequency below 10,- 00 cycles is called audio fre- uency current.

There are several methods for roducing currents of radio fre- uency. They can be produced by e discharge of a condenser, the igh frequency alternator, the arc nd the vacuum tube generator.

We will first take up the pro- uction of electro-magnetic waves y the use of a condenser. As you now, the condenser is made up f two conducting surfaces sepa- ated by a non-conducting ma- erial. When the air gap between ne end of the wire and the other onducting material was suffi- iently small enough, a spark ould jump from the wire to the her conducting material. This ould appear in the form of a con- uous spark, but on account of e eye not being quick enough discern the movements of the ark you would be fooled, for the scharge of a condenser is oscil- tory (it goes back and forth), ch time being weaker than the evious discharge.

You can compare the discharge a condenser to water passing tween two tanks on the same level, one being full of water and the other being empty but connected to the first one. The full tank would be the positive and the empty one the negative. If a valve could be opened quickly so the water could rush into the empty tank, the water would rise higher than it is in the first tank; when this occurs the water will then turn and flow back into the first tank and reverse its motion until both tanks stand at the same level. A condenser discharges in a similar manner.

In order for the condenser to discharge quickly it must have a low resistance path to flow through. If we connected the two conducting surfaces with a high resistance conductor there would not be an oscillatory discharge, but the charge would slowly leak off. The same would hold true if the water in the tank were allowed to run into the second tank very slowly.

The discharge of a condenser sets up waves. The larger a condenser is, the greater time will be required to fill it and the greater discharge it will have. The capacity of a condenser depends on several things: the size and number of the plates, the dielectric constant of the material between the plates and the thickness of it. The length of the electro-magnetic waves produced in a radio circuit depends on the capacity of the condenser and the inductance of the circuit.

Up until a few years ago Leyden jars were used for condensers, but recently a more compact form, known as the mica condenser, is coming into use. The latter consists of several sections of mica and foil inclosed in an aluminum casing. One of these condensers takes the place of two bulky Leyden jars and has the advantage that they are not easily broken as is the case of the glass Leyden jar.

POINTERS

Experiments have proven that broadcasts on 100 meters travel better than on 360.

Alternating current cannot be used for plate supply, but it can for filament on amplifiers.

If your filament rheostats have to be tuned up during concerts, your battery is discharged.

Marching with American Legion

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion, is leading a fight of that organization to bring about an international air disarmament conference, which it is hoped the United States may sponsor. This suggestion from the legion, a proposal to continue world disarmament inaugurated at the naval limitations parley of 1921, is made in view of the increased activities of European nations in military air-craft building programs.

Aiming at arrest of such building plans by European world-powers, the legion has undertaken a referendum of representative Americans as to the practicability of such a conference. Views of statesmen, educators, newspaper editors and other prominent men of the nation have been obtained. The response to the legion's quest has been highly gratifying and its policy has been accorded support from many sources. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Chairman of the Committee of Foreign Relations, and a member of the American delegation to the arms conferncе of 1921, expressed the idea that similar limitations to those of 1921 should apply to aircraft programs, providing these could be made universal. "Nothing could be worse, in my opinion," he wrote, "or more likely to produce war, than for one nation alone to disarm or limit armament. That is a temptation to conflict and to attack upon the unarmed nation. Whatever is done, must be done by international agreement. Therefore, I favor your proposal of an international conference." Others of the nation's leaders gave hearty endorsement to the project.

According to the legion's findings, France is now leading in the mad race for supremacy. With 140 air squadrons, now, and a schedule that contemplates completion of 80 more squadrons by 1925, this program is regarded as certain to mark the nation's leadership in the air. Her planes will carry machine guns and crews; they will have light artillery and enormous bombers which transport tons of explosives. Even troop ships will fly through the air under the proposed French program.

Adjutant Bolles and other legion leaders regard the entry of the nations of Europe in this race as endangering world's peace. They foresee an inability on the part of America to remain indifferent while such a program is in progress with other nations, though such participation would cost America's taxpayers billions of dollars.

Under previous action by the Bureau, if a trainee missed more than one day's work in his institution, he reverted to a hospital status, and maintenance pay allowed was stopped. Director Hines has acquiesced to the demand of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, and has granted the fifteen days without change of status.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories
— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CATNIP

"Dear me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one day as she listened over the telephone. "That's too bad—or, I suppose I should say, three bad!"

"What's that—three bad—too bad—what do you mean?" asked Uncle Wiggily quickly, twinkling his pink nose.

"Why, Mrs. Kat, the mother of Tommie, Joie and Kittie, the pussy children, just telephoned me that her three children are ill," explained Nurse Jane.

"Has she sent for Dr. Possum?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"Yes, he has just left there."

"Then I am going to hop over and see what I can do," offered the kind rabbit gentleman. And when he reached the house where the pussy children lived Mrs. Kat, with tears in her eyes, met him at the door.

"Oh, my little children are so ill!" mewed Mrs. Kat.

"They will soon be better, I'm sure," said Uncle Wiggily. "Where is the drug store paper Dr. Possum left? I'll go get what he ordered them to take—the medicine, you know."

"Here is the paper," said Mrs Kat. Uncle Wiggily read it through his glasses and then said:

"Why, all he wants them to take is some leaves from the catnip plant. I don't need to go to the drug store for this. I know a place where the catnip grows beside the brook. I'll bring you some leaves and you can make a tea for the children, just as Dr. Possum told you to. Then they will soon be well again."

"Oh, thank you," spoke Mrs. Kat, as Uncle Wiggily hopped off over the fields and through the wood. Soon he reached the place where the catnip grew beside the babbling brook.

"Ah, this catnip smells good," said Uncle Wiggily, as he picked a pawful. "Of course it isn't as good for rabbits as it is for cats, but I like the smell of it."

And when he carried the catnip into the Kat home, why Tommie, Joie and Kittie, ill as they were, sat up in their beds and mewed:

"Oh, may we have some catnip leaves?"

"Yes, my dears," mewed their mother. So she gave them some fresh catnip leaves before she boiled up what remained for tea. And I wish you could have seen Tommie, Joie and Kittie cat get excited over the catnip! They rubbed it on their heads, they tossed the leaves up and down in their paws, and Tommie, who was not as ill as Joie or Kittie, got out of bed and rolled on the floor, turning somersaults in the catnip leaves.

"Oh, you mustn't do that!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, they always do that with catnip," said Mrs. Kat. "I feel like doing it myself." And, lo and behold, she, too, rolled over and over on the floor in the catnip because she loved it so.

Then she arose, made the tea for her children and soon they were almost well again. That's how good catnip is for cats, big and little.

"Well, I'm glad to see this," said Uncle Wiggily, once more twinkling his pink nose. "Now I'll hop to the brook again and get more catnip for you, in case you might need it during the night."

"Thank you!" mewed Mrs. Kat.

So Uncle Wiggily again gathered his paws full of the fragrant catnip plant. And, on his way home, all of a sudden out from the bushes sprang the Bob Cat.

"Oh, ho!" howled the Bob Cat. "I am going to nibble your ears! But what have you there?" he asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Smell!" said the bunny, holding out a bunch of catnip. And when the Bob Cat smelled the catnip he yowled, and he howled, and he cried:

"Oh, catnip! How I love catnip! I never knew, before, where to get any! Oh, how delicious I feel!" And then, as Uncle Wiggily dropped some of the catnip leaves on the ground, the Bob Cat, big cat that he was, lay down and rolled over and over and even turned somersaults, rubbing his head and nose in the catnip, and eating some, just as Joie, Tommie and Kittie had done.

Turned somersaults in the catnip leaves.

"Ha! While he is busy turning catnip somersaults I guess I'll run home," said Uncle Wiggily, which he did. And when the Bob Cat had had enough of the catnip somersaulting, and stood up, there was no bunny for him to nibble.

"Oh, well," laughed the Bob Cat, "I had a good time with the catnip, anyhow!" Then Uncle Wiggily took some more leaves to Mrs. Kat, but the children were so well they slept all night. And so did the Bob Cat.

And if the toothbrush doesn't tickle the looking glass when the cake of soap is trying to jump out of the bathtub, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the milk bottle.

After carefully effecting an entrance into the bank, the burglar found his way to the strong room. When the light from his lantern fell on the floor, he saw the sign:

"Save the dynamite. The safe is not locked. Turn the knob and open."

For a moment he ruminated. "Anyhow, there's no harm in trying it, if it really is open." He grasped the knob and turned it.

Instantly the office was flooded with light, an alarm bell rang loudly, an electric shock rendered him helpless, while a panel in the wall opened, and out rushed a bulldog which seized him.

An hour later, says Judge, when the cell door closed on him he sighed: "I know what's wrong with me, I'm too trusting. I have too much faith in human nature."

10 Years Ago Today
From Evening News Files

The P. E. O. will hold their first meeting of the new year with Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of 404 West Third Street.

The regular meeting of the board of trustees was held last night in the city hall. Present, T. W. Watson, president of the board, and trustees Coker, Lane, Thompson and Tower.

Sunday night at the First Methodist church there was a service honoring the tenth anniversary of the organization of the church. Rev. C. R. Norton, who organized the church, gave an interesting account of the early days.

A. W. Tower of 885 Damasco court, who for some time has been instructor in the Polytechnic High school in Los Angeles, has been honored by being placed at the head of the department of biology. Mr. Tower is a member of the board of trustees of the city of Glendale.

Dinner Stories

This story is told of a former commissioner of the city of Washington, D. C. After taking office he set forth to acquaint himself with all the city activities, says Judge.

In due course he reached St. Elizabeth's, the hospital for the insane. One of the doctors told him to just wander about the place and take his time to seeing it all thoroughly, warning him to humor any of the patients with whom he might come in contact.

Some time later he was amused to find a patient who was having trouble trying to ride a wheelbarrow.

"That is a fine horse you have there," he said.

"This is no horse," said the lunatic sourly. "This is my hobby."

"I thought it was the same thing," said the commissioner, trying to be agreeable.

"Don't you know the difference between a hobby and a horse?" demanded the patient. "Well, you can get off of a horse."

The minister and his wife were on their first pastoral call of the season. The home happened to be that of a colored woman who was seldom seen at church.

The minister's wife, desirous of creating a good impression, opened a conversation by asking: "You get your children up to Sunday school in time, don't you?"

"Land sakes, woman," was the reply. "I'se got thirteen chilluns, an' by de time I'se got de last 'un ready de fust un's comin' home agin."—Judge.

"If I run this item, madam" said the city editor, "I shall have to use the blue pencil on about nine-tenths of it.'

"Oh, that is too much trouble!" exclaimed the caller sweetly. "Let me have it again and I'll write it all with a blue pencil!"—success.

Bobbed Hair or Permanent Wave!

"Or both, with now and then a water wave or a Marcel—all of that splendid service here for your beauty's aid.

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—That vivid personality known as Battling Siki, gay boulevardier, whose exploits abroad kept the cables chattering for months, peeped shyly around one corner of Broadway's life today for the first time since he landed in America some weeks ago. New York had forgotten the battler. In Paris Siki's generous impulse was for making himself conspicuous with pet lions, absinthe, fixed fights and the informal socking of cafe patrons. Here, he is just one loose leaf among so many. He may still have the publicity complex, but the competition is keen and the battler's stuff entirely too rugged, not to say unrefined. Though he has appeared on the streets of New York, a subdued vision in pearl gray, he hasn't attracted the slightest notice because New York is surfeited with freaks. New York wouldn't pay undue attention to an unordained bishop in a Navajo blanket.

Siki has been straight-arming the wolf from the door-sill by giving exhibitions in the LaFayette Theatre, an obscure playhouse up-town. He neglected to obtain permission from the Duke of Muldoon and has been summoned before a magistrate. In this way he has broke into print for the first time in weeks. The incident got slightly more than three lines in the morning papers. They were a requiem for the Battling Siki, who once furnished "copy" by the hour for the news scavengers. Almost any negro pugilist in difficulty with the law would have received similar notice.

Siki has either lost his ability to attract attention or else the bizarre element in his make-up has been much exaggerated.

The drinking of absinthe by the quart, the punching of waiters and other idiosyncrasies of his career abroad have not been evident here.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Yankees fell heir to their third consecutive championship in the American league by finishing one jump ahead of the Browns, 4 to 3. Jones confined the visiting firemen to two hits, until the seventh, but weakened thereafter and the Browns had the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth when Williams raced a feeble fly to Schang.

Although the Cubs trifled with Grimes' delivery for a matter of sixteen hits, they finished second to the Dodgers by a score of 9 to 7.

The Athletics went into a tie for sixth place by disposing of the White Sox, 5 to 3.

Glazner shut the Reds absolutely out in the first game, 2 to 0. But the Phils could not stand prosperity and dropped the second, 8 to 7, in eleven innings.

[illegible]es forecast a warn[illegible]y come to pass.

THE PENNANT RACE

With the Yankees having the bunting safely tucked away for 1923, the interest in the pennant fight centers in whether the Giants can maintain their present advantage and come through.

With only ten more games to play, the Giants lead the Reds by four games and the Pirates by six games. If the Giants win six of their remaining games they will finish half a game ahead of the Reds and Pirates, even if these teams win all of their contests, nine and thirteen, respectively.

Today the Giants play a doubleheader with the Pirates. They have three games with Pittsburgh and then visit Cincinnati for two games with the Reds. If the Giants hold their own in these two series, they will meet the Yankees in the world series for the third time.

Walls should be built on the principle of the vacuum bottle and thus keep the rooms cool in summer and save heat in winter, says an inventor.

Looking baseball square in the face, some old-timer remarks that the grand old game looks about as it did thirty-five years ago, with the one exception that every batter doesn't try to knock the cover off the ball as in the days when all the big leaguers sported beards.

The bunt and the sacrifice hit were unknown stunts. Fact is, a player who tried to bunt and missed the ball was called out. The hit-and-run came after the '90s and got going about the time Grover Cleveland shook his fist at Chile.

The Cleveland team worked the squeeze play so successfully with a bunch of youngsters one season that they hadd all the other nines hanging on the ropes. They bunted their way right through all the opposition. They sacrificed to make runs.

It seems that there was a great deal of oppositon to the bunt in the good old beery days when iron kellys and ready-tied ties were having a big run. Knights of the sporting pen used to get "all het up" over the serious question of "what punishment should be dealt the player who was so unsportsmanlike as to resort to the use of a bunt."

This was the real beginning of "inside baseball." Teams began to use their noodles as well as their muscles.

In the early days of the game the player at first who determined to steal second probably gave no hint of his intentions to the batter. He was on his own. But with the introduction of the hit-and-run, signals of some kind or other must have been in order.

Today when a batter steps up to the plate he knows by signals just what the man on base is going to do. He may get instructions from his manager in the dugout or from a coach on the lines through some commonplace phrase shouted as he coaches the runner.

The sacrifice play started all this, and the bunt was and still is the medium used most by players for this purpose. And the player who can drop one consistently down the base line is a mighty big asset to any team.

From the viewpoint of the fan the bunt is about the most exciting of plays. There is always the possibility of a mix-up in the field as to who should handle the play, catcher or pitcher, with the possibility of the third baseman getting into it. To be successful the ball must be handled with alertness and great speed, and the play at first is always close. It places a runner on second where it is possible for him to score on a single.

And so from a lowly, despised thing the bunt soon came up into its own and was at its height about the time Connie Mack was winning pennants with his old Athletics.

Since that time, and particularly in the past three or four seasons, the game has reverted to the old slugfest of the early '90s. The craze for home runs has caused this. Fans go to baseball games of late to see a ball slammed over the fence rather than to witness a pitchers' battle or a game of the hit-and-run type.

Everyone seems to be craving the K. O. wallop, and the ball player who has the wallop is just as popular and in just as much demand by the bleachers as the fighter who has it in either glove.

And the worst part is that it isn't helping the game of baseball a bit.

Freshmen Win Rope Rush at Occidental

The freshman class at Occidental college won the annual Frosh-Soph rope rush held on Patterson field yesterday afternoon. The decision, according to the appointed judge, gave the victory to the class of 1927. Five sophs and only four frosh were tied when the final whistle blew.

The freshmen now wear dinky black caps with an orange button on the top, instead of a green button which designates defeat. If the sophs had won they would have the honor of placing their numerals on the sacred college hill beside those of the classes of '11 and '13. The second year men have not won the rope-rush for ten years.

Postponement of Net Contests Is Feared

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Intermittent rain fell early this morning, making it seem probable that the East vs. West tennis matches, scheduled for Forest Hills, L. I., would be postponed. In the opening singles match, R. N. Williams, East, was scheduled to meet Robert Kinsey, West, while Vincent Richards, East, was to meet Howard Kinsey, West, in the second match.

In the doubles, William T. Tilden and Wallace Johnson, east, were drawn against William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin, West.

'Tiff' Denton First in Billiard Tournament

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21.—"Tiff" Denton of Kansas City was the undisputed occupant of first place in the national three-cushion billiard tournament here today by defeating Bob Cannefax of New York, 60 to 29.

Otto Reseilt of Philadelphia, who has been crowding the "Ozark Fisherman" in the top berth, met defeat at the hands of Johnny Layton of St. Louis, the present titleholder. Denton will play Layton and Reseilt will match cues with Cannefax today.

Hal Dickenson, Star Racqueter at Oxy

By LARRY RAYMOND

Harold Dickenson, one of the leading prep tennis marvels in Los Angeles and winner on many tournaments, is attending Occidental college. There is no doubt now as to who the first man on the freshman team will be. Young Dickenson played on the Los Angeles High school tennis team four years.

Coach Pipal has already issued a call for tennis men. Boice, Palmer, and Finnell, three varsity lettermen are back again this year and can be seen any afternoon warming up on the new cement courts.

That Sixteenth Amendment
Fall Fashions on Display
Editoreadorial Sports
Seven Short Paragraphs

By Gil A. Cowan

THIS is Constitution week. Various lodges are observing it. Preachers are devoting whole sermons to the basic law of the land. Clubs are considering it with due solemnity. And schools are featuring the content of America's greatest document of human rights.

Kiwanians of Glendale today were worrying over the question, "What is the Sixteenth Amendment?" The bootleggers have been worrying for some time over "the Eighteenth Amendment."

But every business man, every wage earner of more than $1000 a year, has a right to worry over that sweet sixteen which gave congress power to levy an income tax.

Los Angeles district has just made another income tax collection record. Isn't it nice we are such good payers into Uncle Sam's coffers. We like to cough 'er up—the kale, we mean, in the parlance of the street.

Well, folks, what do you think of the new styles? The Glendale Evening News Fall Fashion number last evening was the season's greeting to the persons who follow the modes.

And today you should see the windows of the Glendale stores—all filled with the good things in stock. You will enjoy a window shopping excursion in Glendale this week-end.

Somebody suggests the writer "do" a heavy editorial, not having engaged in muck-raking to the satisfaction of this critic. Well, what if we did? Others do, and it does little harm and less good. It simply fills up space.

Some people read editorial pages most people do not. Those who do read them with either one of two thoughts. First, they want to see if their views coninicide with those of the writer—which means nothing accomplished. And, second, they want to see if they cannot criticise that which someone else says.

Outside of being a slight mental diversion, editorial writing and editorial reading are the two indoor sports intended to promote the use of hair restorer. Pasadena produces the most profuse editorials in the Southland. It also has the greatest baldheaded row of any city we know.

We could discuss with the greatest avidity the international situation. Ah, yes, we could describe the plight of the farmers. And we could weigh every city problem on fish scales. Verily, we could worry our readers to death.

Instead of giving you big chunks of leaden alliteration and atmospheric altruism, the writer is going to present a few sparks from editorial anvils, assembled by the International News Service from various California newspapers. Here they are:

Glendale High Plays Van Nuys Pigskinners

Glendale Union High school's varsity football team plays Van Nuys today on the home field. This is the first practice game of the season, and Coach N. C. Havhurst will probably give all the candidates a chance to play.

It was originally planned to have the lightweight team play here and the unlimited play at Van Nuys, but the midget game has been canceled.

The lineup has not yet been definitely decided, but, whatever it is, it will go on the field with the determination to show the visitors how a real team plays.

Boxing and Wrestling Class to Be Organized

Plans for a boxing and wrestling class at Glendale Union High school are being formed by Coach Eugene Wolfe. The class will be held in the afternoon and will be limited to an enrollment of twenty-five students. On account of this small class, pupils will need to sign up at once if they wish to enter it.

Wrestling was featured a good deal last year, Glendale High having a team matched against Long Beach, where the local grapplers carried off the honors.

Venison Dinner Is Served to Kiwanians

The members of the Kiwanis club enjoyed a venison dinner today at their weekly meeting at the Tuesday Afternoon club, when Dr. T. C. Young and A. L. Baird, who returned a few days ago from a successful hunting trip in the Mount Lassen region, furnished sufficient deer meat to satisfy the Kiwanians and their guests.

Governor "Bill" Brown presided at the meeting, and the principal speaker of the day was A. Heber Winder, District Governor of Riverside, one of the international officers of Kiwanis, who spoke on the Constitution of the United States, in accordance with the plan to honor the nation's immortal document. A number of questions dealing with the administration of the country were propounded to the members present at the luncheon, questions that were based on the Constitution and that called for a knowledge of its provisions in order that those to whom the questions were put could answer correctly.

Charlie Hatz of the Reception committee formed the receiving line, with a dollar bill in his hand which was to go to the thirteenth Kiwanian who shook hands with him.

Packers Watch Title Battle In New York

The Stephen C. Packer family, who are now spending a vacation in the east, are enjoying every minute of the time, according to a night letter received by Don C. Packer, of the Packer Auto Company, 245 South Brand boulevard, from his father, S. C. Packer.

While in New York Mr. Packer and his daughter, Miss Diros Packer, took in the Dempsey-Firpo fight, and as this was Miss Packer's first introduction to the ring game her brother believes she will have something that will form an interesting topic of conversation at the various social gatherings she may attend during the coming winter.

After spending a week in New York, they are now visiting Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., and will then spend several days with relatives of Mrs. Packer's in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Another improvement is indicated for Verdugo Woodlands. NATURALIST SEES BRIDGE OF SNOW

Spouting Waterfalls in Glacial Bowls Hidden Away From Auto Paths

an immense black oak tree, twenty-nine feet in circumference, while pines and cedars grow luxuriantly. It is a beautiful spot but, as rattle snakes were plentiful, we decided to move on.

Glaciers Made Lakes

Benson lake to the northward was soon reached, one of the most delightful spots in the Sierras. Here great trees tower at the upper end of its blue waters, which rest in a bowl of granite. All the inuumerable lakes and lakelets of the high Sierras are set in adamant bowls plowed out by the glaciers of long ago.

To pass through a new region while working southward, we crossed both the Matterhorn and Virginia canyons, finally entering again the great Tuolumne canyon at the White cascades, from which a descent was made of that wild gorge rendered famous by John Muir in his description of the region.

A succession of falls and cascades, culminating in Waterwheels falls, is the supreme attraction. Here a large volume of water shooting down a declivity hits a ledge or shelf and is shot high into the air and forward some fifty feet, before striking the rocks below. Further along, another obstruction in the hurrying stream throws a great volume of water violently upward. Each of the two exhibitions is highly spectacular.

From this point we went direct to the well known Tuolumne meadows, where we heard again the honk of the automobile. We then proceeded up Lyel canyon, whose east wall is a colossal hulk known as Kuna crest. A long pull brought us to the remnants of glaciers on Mount McClure and Mount Lyel, where jagged crests of granite rise above the everlasting snows.

Follow Line of Stones

Just under these peaks is Donohue pass, a barren waste of granite blocks and hard drifts of snow. Scarcely a sign of a trail remains over this pass, only a "way" where the traveler follows a line of "guides" or small stones set upon other stones. For many rods the trail was hidden altogether by old snow-drifts, so that a new route had to be laboriously selected.

Donohue rises somewhat over 11,000 feet. It is equally as desolate as Muir pass, but not quite as interesting. The latter, traveled last year, cuts the watershed separating King's river from the San Joaquin, above 12,000 feet. In September it was necessary, on that trip, to cross a considerable stream on a bridge of snow hanging high above it.

Reaches Summit of Sierras

From Donohue a rough trail leads down to Thousand Islands lake, a large but shallow body of water amid bleak surroundings but above which towers granite-walled Banner peak, one of the most impressive landmarks of the Sierras. Nearby is Garnet lake, and above the multi-spired and impressive Mt. Ritter, rising 13,156 feet. Both of these towering peaks are wild in the extreme. They are the summit of the untamed Sierras.

It is not far from here to Shadow lake, whose waters finally plunge down a canyon in a succession of falls and cascades dropping over 1000 feet in a half mile. Every pool along this madcap stream has its golden trout and some have many.

Volcanic Remains

From this point we entered a volcanic region, hundreds of miles in area, strewn to an unknown depth with pumice stone or pumice powder, a region of soda springs, sulphur springs, hot springs and burned rocks. Basalt is a common rock here. Passing a vast field of pumice, skirting Mammoth crest, we worked down through a timbered stretch to Mammoth lakes, a well-known region, tamed by the automobile.

We then went over the crest again to see the San Joaquin river, whose course we followed as its gorge deepened and deepened, until far below could be seen a broken line of green pools and silver water, leading us onward to another region of wild peaks—the Vermilion cliffs and Mono divide. A tourist encountered at this point declared the view equaled any he had seen in the Alps, with which he was very familiar.

Thirteen Miles of Tunnel

We then dropped down to Huntington lake, where we saw the vast engineering work under way by the Edison company, observing particularly the great tunnel which will require three years more of labor to complete, when it will offer a passage-way thirteen miles long, through solid rock.

Leaving the lake we passed through a little traversed region, towards the mighty canyon of the King's river, where great walls are not abrupt, but rise in a series of huge steps or benches, well wooded.

Deep down in this great waterway runs an automobile road—where a stage was found waiting to return us to civilization.

For a living man must wrestle; for a promotion he must work. If hope is not entertained it will die from starvation.

mits only for Friday and Saturday evening performancees and up to 6 p. m. Sunday. Those over 16 do not require permits, and those who are 15 and in the first year of high school can have permits if they are doing part-time school work.

No children under 18 years can play after 10 o'clock at night, according to Mrs. Lyon, who reports that recent violations of the law have caused the state labor commissioner to order strict enforcement, particularly since the exposse of the Santa Barbara showman who played a troupe of children all over Southern California under the pretext of it being a benefit.

Mrs. Lyon this week has been issuing warnings to all theatre managers and booking offices that further violations of the law will be prosecuted. And this, in effect, means that no longer will the little ones be seen cavorting about California stages. They will do their dancing at home!

be kept intact beyond any danger of loss from fire or otherwise.

"Mr. Gregg and his family by their generous action in this matter have placed a heavy debt of gratitude upon the people of this territory. They could hardly have shown their aloha for Hawaii in a more splendid way."

It is stated that Mr. Gregg of Glendale has informed a member of the Advertiser staff of his father's carefully kept diaries, and this information was forwarded Dr. Leebrick, who was studying at Berkeley.
